

Message Pleases Oil Industry

... Nixon Acts To Stimulate Imports, Production

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon took steps Wednesday to stimulate increased imports of oil as well as greater domestic production, in the face of a potential energy crisis.

The President's energy message to Congress was greeted with "disappointment" by the Consumer Federation of America, and with pleasure by the American Petroleum Institute, whose main complaint was that it did not adopt all of the energy industry's proposals.

Treasury Secretary George Shultz, the President's principal energy advisor, told newsmen at a White House briefing that energy costs will have to rise, but that Nixon's proposals and actions would tend to restrain those price increases.

"From the standpoint of the consumer," Shultz said, "if all of these proposals are adopted, he and she will have more energy at lower prices than they would if the proposals were not adopted."

"The interests of the consumer are very well served by these proposals although we all face up to the fact that energy costs are going to rise."

Nixon, using presidential authority, removed present limits on oil imports and eliminated present tariffs on oil imports, effective next May 1, replacing them with a system of import fees to be phased in over the next seven years.

Oil imports, now allocated under a quota system which began in 1959, will continue to be allowed at the levels set for 1973, free of any fee payment.

But the level of no-fee imports will be gradually reduced until all oil imports are subject to fees by April 30, 1980.

Imports above the no-fee levels will require fee payments depending on the type of import, with a higher fee on refined products than on crude oil.

To stimulate lagging construction refineries in the United States, a major cause of the recent shortages of fuel oil, diesel oil and gasoline, new refinery capacity will be entitled to an allowance of no-fee imports for the first five years after construction.

The import measures were not expected to stimulate great increases in direct imports of gasoline.

But William Johnson, an official of the administration's Energy Policy Committee, told newsmen "the anticipated imports will help (supplies of) Number Two fuel oil substantially, and allow U.S. refiners to concentrate more on gasoline."

Their concentration on gasoline, a more profitable product, last summer has been widely blamed for the fuel oil shortages of the past winter.

Nixon asked Congress to end federal regulation of prices of new natural gas supplies on the interstate market, with the aim of allowing gas prices to rise and thus stimulate natural gas development.

But he proposed that existing gas contracts remain under their regulated prices. As they expire, all gas pricing would eventually become unregulated.

Nixon held a price-regulation option in reserve, however, by asking Congress to authorize the Interior Department to impose natural gas price ceilings if necessary.

Nixon urged citizens and federal agencies to try to save energy, but he offered no major conservation programs.

Frank N. Ikard, president of the American Petroleum Institute, an oil industry trade organization, commented that the President's message "contains some positive proposals."

"On some points, however, it does not go as far as we have urged in solving the more immediate energy problems," he added.

Ikard said price regulation should be ended on all natural gas and that "investors could also be discouraged" by the proposal for Interior to monitor gas prices.

Lee C. White, chairman of an energy policy task force of the Consumer Federation of America, said Nixon's message was "a source of great disappointment...The burden seems to be totally put on the consumer rather than the industry at all."

White, a former chairman of the Federal Power Commission, charged that "the petroleum industry seems to be an entity that has to be treated with kid gloves."

He said the proposal to de-regulate natural gas prices seemed to provide no promise that the increased profits would in fact be used to find more gas.

HE'LL VOTE FOR IT . . .

Marvel Says Exon Budget OK Justified

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Appropriations Chairman Richard Marvel Wednesday said a period of budgetary "flux" combined with the prospect of a reduction in tax rates justifies enactment of Gov. J. James Exon's operational budget without change.

Marvel this week found himself in the strange position of advocating passage of the governor's budget bill in preference to the budget package hammered together by his own committee.

And, on Thursday, when he "hopes" the bill will be subjected to final reading, Marvel will vote to enact Exon's package over his own.

There are still portions of the committee plan which he prefers, specifically the earmarking of some funds, Marvel admitted, "but I'm ready to try this new approach."

The tall veteran lawmaker sprawled in a chair after Wednesday's legislative session had adjourned and discussed this week's strange turn of events.

Marvel denies that the decision to accept the governor's operational budget without change was an act of political spite by the Legislature.

It has been described by some senators as an effort to embarrass Exon by giving him a budget which may prove inadequate and inviting him to reduce the state sales and income tax rates to a level which the governor promised, but cannot produce.

However, Marvel admits, "the governor was rather super-critical about the Legislature, and I feel a tremendous responsibility to defend the group."

"I recall my basketball days. When there are remarks about the team, you try to react competitively."

But even if there is "competition" between the governor and the Legislature — and between Exon and Marvel, a possible 1974 gubernatorial candidate — there are adequate reasons to adopt the governor's budget, Marvel says.

"The rules of the budget game are different this time," he noted. "The item veto makes a difference. It gives the governor additional muscle."

"We would need 30 votes to override any veto he makes and I assume he would veto any substantial increase in the budget bill. That is the framework within which he operates, and his message to us Monday validates that assumption."

Furthermore, Marvel said, federal funding for every major state agency is "in jeopardy" and will remain so after the 1973 session adjourns.

"We have to budget this year in anticipation of a special session before January or in anticipation of facing tremendous problems in January," Marvel said.

And that would be true with either the governor's package or the committee's plan, he said.

The committee's proposals are only 2% larger than the governor's in terms of state tax funds, Marvel noted.

Major differences are in the University of Nebraska, the state colleges and the program for community care of the mentally retarded.

But Exon's figures should be sufficient for those programs, pending review and possible change in January, which will be only halfway through the 1973-74 fiscal period, he suggested.

By utilizing the governor's smaller figures, Marvel said, "we can use the opportunity we may never have again to take a closer look at all departmental budgets and examine possible changes of direction" in policy.

As for the promise of a tax cut, Marvel said, "we should provide a joint cooperative effort to give him (the governor) a chance to do it."

In any event, Marvel said, he is "not that satisfied with the way the committee is getting information" in reaching its own decisions. "Maybe, what we have to do is spend more time in the field," he said.

The decision to follow the governor's lead is not establishing a precedent, Marvel insisted.

Rather, it is the result of special circumstances in 1973, he contended.

The budget bill, LB259, will need 33 votes to become operative in time for the July 1 beginning of the new fiscal year.

If it is enacted without that majority, this week's budget confusion will assume new dimensions.

"I think we are responsible enough to try to give the bill 33 votes if it passes," Marvel said.

Drug Firms Given 2 Years To Prove Antibiotics Safe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Raising questions about potential health hazards to humans, the Food and Drug Administration Wednesday gave pharmaceutical companies two years to prove the safety of antibacterial drugs used in animal feeds.

Any antibiotic or sulfonamide drug failing to demonstrate safety and efficacy as a low-level feed additive will be banned after the deadline except for short-term prescription use, the FDA said.

In addition, manufacturers of tetracyclines, streptomycin, dihydrostreptomycin, sulfonamides and penicillins will be required to prove within one year that they do not promote an increase of salmonella bacteria. The FDA also proposed to extend the regulatory requirements to include nitrofurans.

The Animal Health Institute, representing 59 companies producing 75 per cent of U.S. veterinary feed additives, expressed confidence that studies will demonstrate that the drugs "do not pose a hazard to the health of man or animals."

Dr. John Jennings, FDA associate commissioner for medical affairs, said the agency is concerned that the use of antibiotics in feed to reduce animal disease may be making humans more vulnerable.

Specifically, he said, the FDA wonders whether medicated feed may increase the salmonella reservoir in animals, make salmonella germs resistant to human drugs, result in bacteria transferring their drug resistance to other strains of bacteria, or have adverse effects on humans ingesting drug residues in meat.

Youths Find Two Bodies

Omaha (AP) — The Douglas County Sheriff's office reported Wednesday that the partially decomposed bodies of two men were found on the bank of a drainage ditch about one mile west of the Elkhorn River.

Officers said the bodies were found covered by a blanket about a half mile south of Highway 92 along a county road. No identification of the men was made and an autopsy was scheduled.

Officers said it was believed the men were in their late 20s or early 30s.

Officers said the bodies may have been there for as long as 30 days.

Shopping Center Sought At 84th, O

By LYNN ZERSCHLING
Star Staff Writer

It's been confirmed — there are plans for a major shopping center at 84th and O.

Somewhat reluctantly Wednesday the City-County Planning Commission waived its rules to allow a public hearing next week on a major development on the northeast corner of that intersection.

Attorney Dick Spangler, representing General Growth Development Corp., told the commission that the company wanted "to put an end to the rumors."

The proposal is for a 155-acre tract which Spangler termed "a proper site for a very major development."

Plans for two other regional shopping centers have been announced recently — one at 56th and Old Cheney Rd. and one at 27th and Old Cheney Rd.

Spangler said the reason for presenting his plans at this time is to give city officials an opportunity to look at all three plans before making a decision.

The proposal at the 56th location will be up for public hearing before the City Council this Monday. That plan received the endorsement of the planning commission.

The proposal for the 27th location is scheduled to come before the commission for consideration later this spring.

Under planning commission rules, public hearings are held the third Wednesday of the month, and action taken on the fourth.

Spangler was requesting that the hearing and action be taken on the same day.

The original vote to waive those rules was 4 to 2 — one vote short of the majority needed.

Commissioners Thelma Miller and Art Duerschner objected. Three members were absent.

Duerschner said "it disturbs me that time after time we're asked to give less notice to the public."

"This is a substantial undertaking and it would be both to the owner's interest and the public's to give ample hearing on this matter," he contended.

Spangler said he would submit all necessary studies to commissioners so that they would have a week in which to study the proposal.

Additionally, he pointed out that the commission waived the rules for Hub Hall's proposed shopping center at 56th and Old Cheney Rd. and contended it would be unfair to deny him the same privilege.

Duerschner commented that the development of the 84th and O tract would have a greater impact on the city than "anything we've heard." The site is at the edge of Stevens Creek watershed.

Mrs. Miller explained she objected to waiving the rules and questioned why the proposal was not presented to the commission earlier.

However, on the basis of Spangler's comments, Mrs. Miller changed her vote "much against my will."

Hospital Property Sale OK'd

The Legislature's Executive Board Wednesday accepted the Lancaster County Board's $75,000 offer for 66,000 square feet of state-owned property at the delunct Orthopedic Hospital at 11th and South Sts.

The county plans to raze the site and construct a $200,000 juvenile attention center.

The $75,000 price tag was suggested by Executive Board Chairman Terry Carpenter after an earlier $55,000 offer was rejected. The contract for the sale will be drawn up shortly.

The action will not need the approval of the full Legislature, since a resolution was passed earlier Wednesday giving the Executive Board final say in the matter.

Black Editor Raps Women's Lib Loopholes

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

The editor-publisher of "Encore" magazine Wednesday criticized what she called "loopholes" in the women's liberation movement, and she suggested blacks must guard against some of its dangers.

Ida Lewis also said in her visits with college students around the country she has found a "distressing and appalling apathy" among black students.

Miss Lewis was in Lincoln Wednesday to speak as part of a black arts festival sponsored by the University of Nebraska-Lincoln conference committee and the black activities committee.

In remarks to a student audience, she said many black women are concerned that "the women's movement has a segment of work called 'nigger work.'"

"It's difficult to distinguish between the new freedom women are striving for and the same old slavery," she said.

She also said she is concerned about an "anti-men bias" expressed by some leaders of the women's liberation movement.

"It's wrong to feel guilty for feeling very human," she said.

She suggested that liberationists are trying to substitute for the "old Victorianism" which said women are "not supposed to enjoy sex with a man" a "new Victorianism" which says the same thing.

One of the differences between the way black women and white women look at men is based on the fact that "we have a man who has no power," said the black journalist.

"He is a powerless son of a gun," she said. On the other hand, she said, white women are "dealing with a man who's perpetuated a system that's taken care of her."

She said while white women are looking for someone to help them do the dishes, black women are working to get a dish to wash.

A white woman may wonder "who's going to change the diapers," she said, while black women first "need a man around to speak to."

"Black women are involved in survival," she said.

And, as a practical matter, she suggested, when white women move into the work world they compete with black men.

"As women, she said, "we bring a warmth, a special beauty into the world."

"I want all women to share the joys of being a woman, not just the woes."

Directing her comments specifically to black students, Miss Lewis said she's concerned that black students appear to think they are "ripping off whiteness" when they waste away time in college. "You can smoke pot on the street corner," she said. "You're supposed to be studying."

One of the problems with blacks, she said, is they "blame all (problems) on the white man."

"We have to do it ourselves," she suggested. "It's not all their fault."

Urging "moving ahead . . . on your own," Miss Lewis said: "No one really owes you or anyone anything."

"Black people are not the only ones struggling," she added. "It's universal."

Miss Lewis, a 38-year-old journalist who launched "Essence" magazine before she founded "Encore," took time out to visit the site of the plant where her magazine is printed during her trip to Lincoln.

"Encore" is printed at Mid-America Webpress in the Capital City.

During Holdup

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the FBI's 10 most wanted men was shot to death during a Harlem bank holdup Wednesday and his two armed companions later surrendered after holding 30 persons hostage for up to 90 minutes.

None of the hostages, including a 4-year-old, was injured. But a bystander outside the bank was shot in the neck as police exchanged fire with the slain bandit, Mace Brown, a condemned murderer.

"They treated us very nice," one of the hostages said of the two surviving gunmen, Herman Holiday, 33, of Newark, N. J., and Frederick Kelly, 26, Manhattan. The pair was charged with robbery and attempted homicide.

Holiday and Kelly gave themselves up to a television newsman and a policeman, whom they admitted to the bank specifically to negotiate their surrender.

"They were trembling, they were scared," a police spokesman said of the bandits.

Patrolman Phillip Marion, who with WCB-TV news correspondent Christ Borgen accepted the surrender, had just graduated from a special training class and joined a police unit organized to deal with situations where hostages were involved.

Included in the training was a simulated bank holdup and Marion said after Holiday and Kelly were in custody "I didn't believe I was going to put it to use so quickly."

Brown, 30, described as a native of Birmingham, Ala., was depicted by the FBI as a hired killer who shot to death a potential witness in a Washington, D. C. narcotics case. Under sentence of death, he escaped from prison there last October and was put on the most wanted list.

Moments after the bandit trio entered the Chase Manhattan branch bank at Fifth Avenue and 135th Street, three women approached a police car parked nearby and reported the holdup in progress.

Patrolman Russell Kaercher, 23, and his partner, Patrolman Clifford Benson, left the car and took up positions in front of the bank. Kaercher said he was crouched behind the mailbox when Brown came out the door of the bank with the other two gunmen behind him.

Brown opened fire with a 9mm automatic pistol. Kaercher said, adding, "I didn't have much time to think."

Kaercher said Brown got off six or seven shots before he and Benson let go with their guns. Eight of the police bullets riddled Brown's body, striking him in the chest, groin, feet, side and one wrist.

As he spun around and fell to the pavement, an Afro wig Brown was wearing toppled off and came to rest near his body. Blood seeped through and soaked a trenchcoat he wore.

The other two bandits, Holiday and Kelly, meanwhile retreated back inside the bank, and negotiations began for their surrender. Police said neither was involved in the gunplay that cost Brown his life.

The injured bystander was Ernest Innis, 29, whose condition was reported good after surgery for a neck wound.

It was the third time in eight months that hostages figured in a police siege. Two robbers were captured last August after holding nine persons captive in a Brooklyn bank.

Watergate Settlement Offered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Robert S. Strauss said Wednesday he is uncertain whether to accept an offer by President Nixon's re-election committee to settle three civil lawsuits stemming from the Watergate case.

The settlement offer is reported to be $525,000.

Strauss told the National Press Club that he won't agree to settle the cases out of court if it will hamper full disclosure of the events surrounding the break-in and bugging of the party's Watergate headquarters last June.

Party sources said, meanwhile, that if Strauss doesn't accept the offer to settle the package of three lawsuits, which include two counter-suits against the Democrats by the Committee for the Re-election of the President, he may have to make a special fund-raising appeal to finance their prosecution.

Strauss conceded that the two parties would make differing interpretations of any out-of-court settlement.

"I would take it as an admission of guilty," he said.

Strauss and George Bush, chairman of the Republican National Committee, made a joint appearance before the press club. Most of the questions went to Strauss, since Bush has said he knows nothing of the Watergate background and that the GOP national committee wasn't involved.

Bush praised Nixon's decision to let White House aides appear before the Senate Watergate inquiry and said that "Watergate has not obscured the positive record of this administration."

If you don't have prescription sunglasses, we recommend the following poor substitutes.

FLIP-UPS are fine provided you can find a pair that are made to fit the shape of your glasses. But odds are against it. They don't make that many shapes. Even when they do, because you are looking through two windows separated by air space you are still getting distorted vision at best.

REGULAR SUN GLASSES are another poor substitute. Not because they don't protect your eyes from brightness. The good ones do. But if you are supposed to wear corrective glasses most of the time, especially driving, then you are creating a dangerous situation as well as inviting needless eye strain.

ASPIRIN should be kept handy with flip-ups, with regular sun glasses, or, of course, if you choose to face the sun without the benefit of any protection whatsoever. The sun, any way you want to look at it, under these conditions, is a great big headache.

HOWEVER, if none of these poor substitutes for prescription sun glasses makes any sense to you, do this. Drop in and see us. (You don't need an appointment.) Let us fit you to a pair of prescription sun glasses. Pick out the kind of frames that look good on you. And drop those aspirin in the nearest waste can.

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

One might hope that the sticky Watergate situation might now be cleared up, as a direct result of President Nixon's relaxation of his prior policy of executive privilege. In changing his stance, the President will allow testimony before a grand jury and before the Senate investigating committee of those members of his administration who have any information bearing upon the Watergate case.

Speculation now, of course, is that heads will roll somewhere. This is the logical conclusion from the change in attitudes on the part of the President. The President did indicate that information developed through an administration investigation prompted him to reverse his executive privilege position.

Thus, it is widely believed that the President now knows of wrong-doing that should be publicly exposed. The alternative is that the President now knows that nothing wrong was done by his administration and he welcomes the opportunity of proving this.

Anyone who heard the President's statement on the matter can decide for himself what conditions he believes now exist. The key words by the President were:

"I can report today that there have been major developments in the (Watergate) case concerning which it would be improper to be more specific now, except to say that real progress has been made in finding the truth."

He then went on to explain that "if any person in the executive branch or in the government is indicted by the grand jury, my policy will be to immediately suspend him. If he is convicted, he will, of course, be automatically discharged."

Those words do not have the ring of something in the nature of total exoneration, but rather, tend to sound as though developments will point the finger at still more participants in the Watergate than have to date been found guilty of criminal actions in that case.

Also, for what other reason would the President now reverse his stand against congressional testimony by members of his staff? That position was based on Mr. Nixon's conviction that the Watergate involved no more people than those prosecuted in the case.

Something, it seems, would have had to become apparent to invite the President to change his mind. It is possible the President now seeks only to prove he was right but our assessment of the situation would be something different — that he now knows others are involved who ought to face the consequences of their action.

The American people have been curiously disinterested in this entire affair, seeming to chalk it up with a smile to the expected antics of politics in high places.

Such an attitude, however, states in reality that the commission of a crime in the conduct of political affairs is of no concern to the American people. It is doubtful that this really is what the American people believe.

What is probably closer to the truth is that people have not fully understood until very recently that the Watergate did, indeed, involve serious criminal actions, that the case was not just a matter of silly and immature behavior on the part of a handful of individuals acting largely on their own.

Whatever might explain the President's new position on executive testimony and whatever might be the ultimate outcome of that position, it now appears that the truth in this case will be forthcoming and the issue, once and for all, will be fully settled.

Doctor Searchers Share The Wealth

NEW YORK — The shortage of physicians in America is considered an overriding social problem. Sure, they have Marcus Welby and Kildares in the big cities — but who's timing the heartbeats and removing the ruptured appendix of Goose Creek, Texas?

"It is a serious problem, but not so much one of a true doctor shortage, as of a maldistribution of doctors," says Robert P. Corsun, the most knowledgeable man in the land on who is receiving good medical care and who is desperately without it.

"In California there are 160 physicians for every 100,000 residents. In Alaska, there are 63 for every 100,000."

"In a small Arizona retirement community, there are six urologists (among a variety of other physicians). Yet there are 500 American communities that have no doctor at all, much less a urologist."

The three most doctor-deprived areas in the U.S., says Corsun, are 1) rural towns and counties, 2) the inner cities, and 3) communities of between 25 and 100,000 persons, which may have a few general practitioners, but are desperately in need of skilled specialists.

"Here in New York, you can have a specialist for any ailment, at almost a moment's notice." But if you live in a Midwest city, you might have to be carried aboard a plane and ferried hundreds of miles to find a cardiologist or highly skilled internist.

"Ironically, there are many fine physicians and surgeons in our metropolitan areas who would love to change their life styles — to move from the city, big hospital rat-race to a rural area, or to a smaller city of 75,000 people who will appreciate them. But these doctors don't know how to go about it . . . any

NU's Westward Expansion

It is a tribute to Sen. Terry Carpenter's political skill and the power which he wields in the Legislature that he was able to ram through the bill by which the University of Nebraska system will acquire properties at the defunct Hiram Scott College in Scottsbluff, Terry's home town.

At 25 in favor and 21 against, there was no margin in the vote. Carpenter got just what he needed for passage and no more, but he delivered, nevertheless.

It's now up to Gov. Exon to decide upon the wisdom of expanding NU operations into the west end of the state for less than substantial reasons. Because Carpenter probably can't get enough votes to override a veto should Exon fail to sign the measure into law.

Under the terms of the legislation, NU is authorized to acquire without cost an estimated $4 million in properties at Scottsbluff. The bill does not provide for funds to operate the Scottsbluff campus. Presumably, operational funding would be sought in 1974. Plans are to develop a regional health education center and an agricultural center at the facility.

When the law of averages catches up with U.S. pilots flying bombing support missions over Cambodia and Laos and the B-52s are hit by communist missile fire, a wave of public anguish over the involvement in Indochina will roll anew in this country.

More dead American airmen, more prisoners of war — to meet a fate less certain than that which finally fell to those lucky enough to emerge from years of captivity in North and South Vietnam — and additional loss of millions of dollars of equipment. People are asking, why? And not just the old antiwar crowd whose legitimate arguments were swamped by Nixon's end-the-war policy in Vietnam. Others are asking, including members of the President's own party who were loyal and consistent in their support of Vietnamization, withdrawal and "peace with honor."

Peace with honor, as the President would have it, having been achieved in Vietnam, does the U.S. have to go through another nightmare elsewhere in southeast Asia? The answer that we have no ground troops committed in Laos and Cambodia is not good enough. Although the insurgents are

JAMES RESTON

Nixon And The Watergate

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has finally spoken out on the Watergate charges, and this political city, which has waited for him so long, is jumping with excitement and jumping to conclusions. But maybe it should wait a little longer.

Everything is suspected here now, but nothing has been proved. The distinction is important. It is ten months since the five men were arrested for burglarizing and bugging the Democratic headquarters at the Watergate, and ever since then, the admitted crime has been political instead of judicial.

The main problem in these last ten months has not been what was true, but how to get at the truth.

The administration defied the Congress to question the President's aides — even to question any of the 2.5-million federal employees about a suspected crime, if the President forbade it.

The President, in his statement to the press, gave the impression that he had personally instigated a new investigation, that as a result of his action he had uncovered "major developments in the case," which he could not disclose, but in the meantime, he had concluded that his aides, whom he Questions arise over whether it is necessary to expand the operations of the university system primarily to pacify Sen. Carpenter, who admittedly has been generous in his support of NU budgets for the Lincoln and Omaha campuses. And is it a good enough reason to acquire the property and commit future operational funds because the buildings are now available at no cost? And what about the increased competition for state funds among the various NU campuses and state colleges that would result from such an acquisition? These factors, in our opinion, would weigh against the acquisition of Hiram Scott.

On the other hand, there does not appear to be a duplication of educational services involved. And NU President D. B. Varner's plans for development of the Scottsbluff campus hold promise. Another factor can be added: the possibility the acquisition holds for helping to unify the state and the hope that it will increase overall support for the total NU system.

It is not a clear-cut decision the governor has to make. He can't be blamed if he views Sen. Carpenter's bill with a generous amount of skepticism.

War During A False Peace

aggressively aided by the North Vietnamese, these are still basically civil conflicts. The U.S. is supporting crumbling and apparently unpopular regimes. More civilians than communist guerrillas and regulars are probably dying from the bombing holocaust and more U.S. military personnel will die or be captured.

The central point, as successive American presidents have defined it, is that the U.S. must honor its commitments to allies in Indochina and that this country has a moral obligation to aid those peoples in determining the form of their government themselves.

Apparently we honored our commitment in South Vietnam and left President Thieu in good enough shape to defend his government. And we were apparently satisfied that it was a popularly elected government.

How great is our commitment to Laos and Cambodia, or is it just a continuing commitment by President Nixon to save President Thieu from encirclement by the communists? If American policy is plainly and simply designed to fight "communism" in Asia, our President might just as well say so.

had previously forbidden to give formal testimony before the Senate investigating committee, would now be available to testify under oath.

This has produced a torrent of speculation in the capital. The most common guess is that the President was advised that the grand jury was about to bring in an indictment or indictments against people on his former or present staff whose innocence he had previously proclaimed.

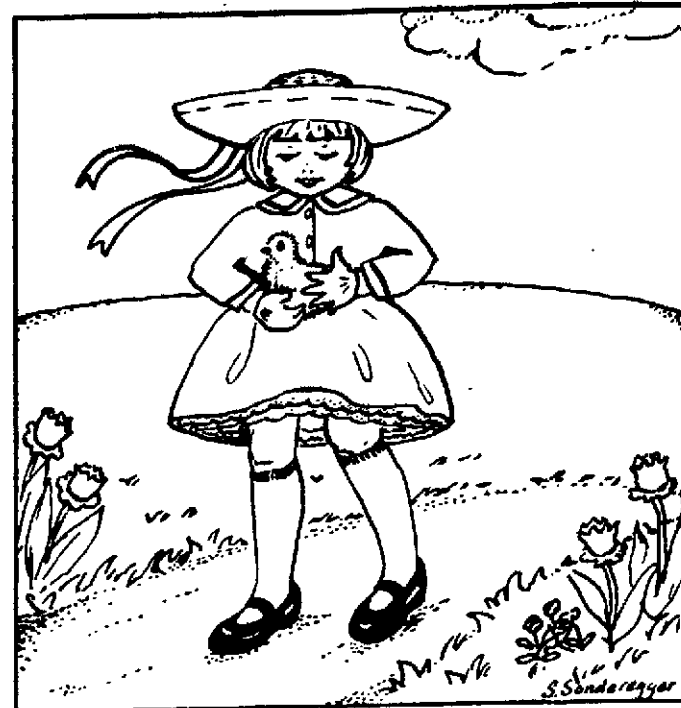

There were other odd facts in the President's announcement. Last weekend, his former attorney general, John N. Mitchell, was in Washington conferring with members of the White House staff. Mrs. Mitchell insisted he had seen the President. The White House press secretary denied it.

But the President had been conferring, by his own account, not with his White House staff over the weekend and not in the White House, but in the executive office building with Attorney General Kleindienst and the assistant attorney general. This raised some interesting questions.

Why at this critical point did the President not see Mitchell? Where were his closest White House aides at this decisive conference? All this now has

LA VERNA HASSLER

Patchwork Prairie Country

April has been somewhat cruel and indifferent so far this year with the snow and wintry winds and the hard freeze the fore-part of the month. It puts a stress on all things including the farmers who are trying to out-guess the elements. So much needs to be done on the farm with so short a time now in which to do it.

Some farmers are planning to destroy their wheat as it has winter-killed or else looks so unthrifty it will not pay to leave it. Our wheat also looks as if it will not make a profitable yield this summer so he is likewise considering tearing it up and starting all over once more.

With the crops that were destroyed in the fields last fall and some fields of wheat that must be destroyed this spring, farmers are hard put to have a cheery smile this year.

When I think of Easter, my thoughts are in shades of yellows with gold-embossed edgings.

There are yellow daffodils and bright forsythia bells that catch the golden glints of sunlight to reflect the vibrance of new life again.

There are fluffy baby chicks soft as a spring twilight pleading the call of this new life and the first shimmering rays of sunrise spinning golden glints over the awakening landscape.

It's yellow candles on a little one's birthday cake delighting the eye and bringing joy to the family who loves him. It's yellow ribbons streaming from a little girl's Easter bonnet and yellow butterflies skimming delicately across her pathway.

Yellow, a color of brilliance, reflecting happiness and joy just as the Easter season reflects the newness of an immortal spring.

We have no apricot trees but those who do have them have small hopes of harvesting fruit from them.

Apricots bloom very early and many trees were in full bloom at the time the temperatures dipped so low.

Our pears and apple trees, though layered with tightly wrapped buds may have survived as many did.

I understand beneath the brown husk of the bud and surrounding the tender flower bud, there is an air space that acts as an insulation. This protects the fruit bud provided it has not budded out or opened entirely before a hard freeze strikes.

All in all, it may be said thus far spring has gotten off to a very discouraging beginning. However, I suppose, come autumn, all things will even out and the year before us will turn out to be very much like other years.

Sometimes it is the little day-to-day things of life that are so familiar to us that bring contentment like dishes on a shelf in shining rows or clothes billowing freely on the line. Again it may be the well-worn broom in the corner or windows in a room all clean and glossy.

Or it may be the old apple tree in the backyard where the children have played for years beneath its shade or impish kittens on the step. It may be rain upon the roof or a neighbor's footfall that has become so familiar.

It is second nature to flee on magic feet to far-off shores or mountain-tops. The streets of foreign cities may beckon or a lakefront cottage or perhaps a tramp through a jungle pathway holds some intrigue.

But always it is most rewarding to close the doors of a house called home and wrap the cloak of contentment about the shoulders and enjoy the good life.

Life Is Simple

Waverly, Neb. I wish life were so simple for me that the only part of the economy I had to worry about was the price of meat.

I can visualize a typical day of some highly intelligent woman who has her mind set on bringing down the price of one of the few quality items for sale today.

In the first place, as she is making her "Stamp Out Farmers" sign, she hits her thumb with a hammer. She rushes to the doctor which costs $10; needs an X-ray at the hospital, another $25; and finds out that the thumb is fine. This doesn't worry her.

She finally gets to the market to start the march and as she gets out of her new car, she tears her dress on a piece of chrome that has come loose. This is rather bad because she is driving the highest priced car in history and probably the poorest in construction. As she has other things on her mind, she doesn't worry about this, either.

There is no way she can march in front of the market in a torn dress so she picks up the door handle that has fallen off, gets in the car and makes a hard right to the department store where she buys a $40 dress that is probably worth about $15. This wouldn't be so bad but she happens to see a pair of $10 shoes that cost only $30. Well, this is no problem, because meat is on her mind. After a hard day's marching, she happens to think that the car payment is due. She rushes to the loan company and pays more interest on the loan than ever before and doesn't give it a second thought. The reason for this is that she is tired from marching and she needs a little something to refresh herself. The next stop, of course, has to be the nearest lounge where she is able to get a few drinks at only 85 cents apiece. They contain about 15 cents worth of booze, but this is no cause for concern, as she has really earned it in her crusade to lower the cost of meat.

On her way home, she has a horrible thought. There is nothing for dinner. Even that doesn't bother her for she quickly has a plan. When she gets home, she sends the kids to McDonalds and she and the old man go out and have a $7.50 steak.

As I implied in the beginning, life is simple when you have a simple mind.

Symphony's Trip

Lincoln, Neb. I cannot understand the purpose in publishing the recent article (Sunday Journal and Star, April 15, Pg. 4C) concerning the Lincoln Youth Symphony orchestra. It appears to me as a deliberate attempt to scuttle the trip to Vienna, Prague, and Budapest planned for the Lincoln Youth Symphony.

Why have you chosen to publicize the poorly informed opinion of a Staff reporter concerning the Lincoln Youth Symphony's participation in the European music festival? In my opinion, this is a most irresponsible piece of journalism and I cannot, in good conscience, let it go unchallenged.

Our daughter is a member of the Lincoln Youth Symphony, but she is not going to Europe with the orchestra, because we felt the required investment in time and funds could better be used for her continued musical education in other ways. Many of them, with great courage and personal effort, have undertaken the necessary fund drive, and I think they might well have succeeded or may yet succeed in spite of this recent unfortunate publicity.

Down To One

Lincoln, Neb. I totally agree with Mrs. T. (Letter, April 12), that Jane Fonda and all the communists should be deported. However, I don't feel that Mrs. T. has gone far enough. Why not send all those long-haired hippie socialists with them on the first boat. And speaking of protesters, on the second boat we could send all the blacks, Chicanos, and all those women libbers and ERA advocates back to where they came from.

And how about the Indians? What did they ever do for America? We have no need in this country for the likes of Catholics, Jews and Protestants — not to mention those atheist scientists and abortionists. Let's get rid of all those unpatriotic groups who are trying to influence and gain control of our government, like those Republicans and those Democrats.

Well, looks as if that's about it, Mrs. T. Just you and me left. What's that, Mrs. T.? You don't agree! OUT!!!!

Elusive Time

Salem, Ore. What is Time? I have lived nearly 100 years of it and still cannot give a good definition of it. We know that yesterday has joined the ages of the past, tomorrow is elusive; it is always one day ahead of us and we will never catch up with it. Today we live and may God let us live so the low-descending sun can view from our hand some worthy action done. Amen.

Travel Recommended For Discouraged Widower

By ROBERT PETERSON

QUESTION: — "I'm very discouraged. Retired from the phone company last fall at 65 and don't feel good. My wife passed on two years ago and I sit here day after day wondering why on earth I'm still around. We have no children, my old friends are dropping like autumn leaves, my beagle died Christmas Day, and I must have heart trouble for I've got chest pains. I've got a pension and some savings but what's the point of hanging on when you're alone and depressed?"

ANSWER: — No point at all — in your present state. What you need is a change of scene to shake off the doldrums. Get a physical exam and see if those chest pains are any cause for alarm. If they're not, dip into your savings and buy a bus ticket for a trip across the country. Get a map and plan visits to any towns that interest you. Use the phone and call old friends in distant places and ask if they'd like you to drop by. Fly down to Mexico, or sign up for one of those low cost group trips to London or Paris. And let a few widows know you're still breathing. Things will start looking up.

QUESTION: — "My mother always feared death and often mentioned how she hated the thought of dying — even when she was in her 50s and 60s. Yet, just before she passed on at age 78 her last words were, 'I'm so glad to be going — it will be such a relief.' Why would she change her mind like that?"

ANSWER: — Death is probably man's greatest fear — simply because it represents the end of the known and the beginning of the unknown. When we reach the point of facing death we give in easily so as not to fear it anymore. Many who have been on airplanes in extremely frightening circumstances have said they found themselves almost hoping the plane would crash — so they'd be relieved of the terrible, overpowering anxiety about dying. In other words, fear of death may be even more unpleasant than the fact itself.

QUESTION: — "The older I grow the sicker I get of welfare programs. I started with nothing and managed to raise a family and set aside something for my old age. I worked at anything I could get and always managed to save something. Now that I'm 70 I've got a nice little nest egg. But why should I have to support folks who don't want to work, or old folks who had their chance and didn't bother to save? They had as many years as I had to accumulate money. But they probably spent it as fast as they made it while I used a little foresight."

ANSWER: — Some of them may have been profligate. But many who end up in need have been victims of personal tragedies, poor educations and inadequate environments. It would be fine if all people were as industrious, thrifty and foresighted as you apparently have been. But human nature is such that everyone is different. Some just aren't inherently industrious, thrifty and foresighted. Maybe you feel we should just let such folks starve. But a just society can't very well be indifferent to human needs.

Acupuncture Listing May Be Only A Needle

GLOUCESTER, England (AP) — Was it a needle needle? Robin Tillyard, who says he knows nothing of Chinese medicine, is listed in the new telephone book as an acupuncture practitioner.

"I know that acupuncture involves sticking needles in the body, but that's all I know," said Tillyard, a livestock dealer.

The director of the directory said the entry would be corrected in next year's edition.

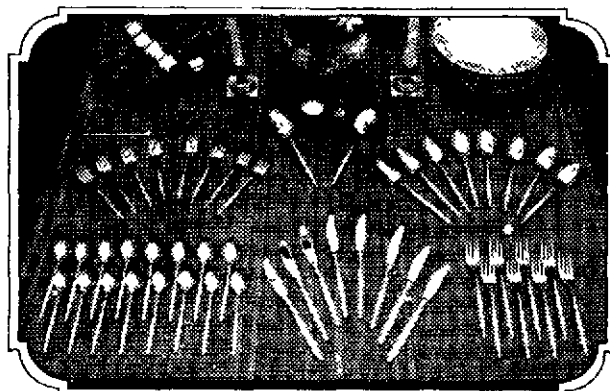

Tillyard wonders if someone was trying to needle him.

No Fuel Shortage Solution In Sight

... Day-Long Meeting Produces Little More Than Review

By DOMINICK COSTELLO
Farm Editor

A day-long meeting of government officials, petroleum distributors and energy users held in the National Guard Armory in Lincoln provided a new review of energy-related problems, some estimates of the size of the problem but very little in the way of solution.

"I just came back from a meeting like this in Iowa. We are meeting here today as a committee. We can meet and meet until the end of the world but we have got to come up with some answers or we might as well stay at home," said Charles Chase of the Nebraska Petroleum Council at the close of the meeting.

The appeal for action by Chase failed to stir any action by the group, which had spent the day discussing the available supply of fuel.

Diesel On Hand

A representative of Continental Trailways bus company reported that his company had some diesel fuel on hand and for the next 30 days appeared to be in pretty good shape, but noted the company was having trouble getting a new contract for fuel.

This seemed to set the pattern for most of the users. A representative of the contracting industry said the uncertainty of supply was a major problem for contractors. "We are in the position of having to bid on projects that we may not be able to get fuel to build or oil to put into blacktopping," he said.

Paul Sindt of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) told the group, "This nation will be down to a six-week supply of feed grains this fall unless farmers have enough fuel to run their tractors this spring."

Sindt pleaded with fuel users, particularly utilities, to avoid "squirreling away a supply of oil which farmers need to produce the food we eat. We need this grain to trade with other countries for fuel we need," he said.

Several representatives of electric companies in the state reported that they were constructing additional storage for fuel oil in the hope of getting enough fuel to fill them against the expected demand this winter.

The representatives of the electric producers generally reported that they had enough coal on hand for the summer months but there was real concern over the shortage of fuel for plants that burn oil and natural gas.

Jim Clark of Crete asked, "What will happen if we have to shut down our power plant? Since much of the natural gas used in furnaces depends on electricity to run the fans on the furnace you are not going to sell very much natural gas unless we have gas to make electricity with."

Allocations Urged
Representatives of the trucking industry, small municipal utilities and other groups called for allocations of fuel for their industries.

The only suggestion the fuel suppliers had to the users was that it would be wise to build some additional storage on the user's property to make it possible for the user to stockpile fuel.

"You will have to be able to accept fuel when it is available. Our allocations are running anywhere from 104% of what we got last year to 80% of what we got last year. We don't know how much fuel we will have available next month and we have no way of predicting what will happen," said a representative of a fuel supplier.

"May I remind you that demand is 7% above last year. At the 100% level you are 7% behind demand. At the 80% level of supply we are 27% behind the demand," said Bus Whitehead, an oil jobber in Lincoln.

Going To Extremes
Some users are going to extremes to obtain oil. G. M. Hower of the Union Pacific Railroad said some railroads were buying oil in tankers on the high seas and hauling it where they needed it in their own rail cars.

"If I have to I will go to The Netherlands to buy it. Our system uses 36,000 gallons of diesel an hour. The Burlington, which is a larger system, uses even more. Some trains have stopped when they ran out of fuel. At the moment we have two weeks supply on hand and are in pretty good shape but we have not been able to get any long-term supplies lined up. Unfortunately, all our contracts are due for renewal this year," he said.

Natural gas customers with an interruptible contract can expect interruptions again this winter. "We think our customers on this type of contract would be wise to secure a supply of an alternate fuel. To ignore the history of this past winter is to stick your head in the sand," said Fred Gagne of Northern Natural Gas.

Gagne said the weather this summer, fall and winter would play a major role in the fuel supply, both because it affects the amount used but because it also affects the ability of the company to build reserves in many areas of the country.

The committee plans to meet again in September to review the supply situation as it exists just prior to the winter heating season.

A report of the proceedings of the meeting will be made available to the Midwest Governors Conference later this year and to the state's congressional delegation in Washington.

STENGER ... demonstrates technique for Everett Junior High audience.

Fence Post Sculptor Shows, Tells

By DICK HOLMAN
Star Staff Writer

"This is a far cry from a branding corral," laughed Imperial cattleman A. O. (Bud) Stenger.

"The kids listen to me as if I knew what I was talking about." The subject was art—not cattle.

Despite his modest disclaimer, the Fence Post Sculptor from the Lone Star Ranch in the Sandhills brought the ease and skill of his 70 years to Everett Junior High School, teaching and entertaining students, parents and teachers for three days with his wood sculptures.

Started By Accident
Stenger's hobby started by accident, literally.

When he was 61, "I took a bad spill on a horse," he recalled, and was laid up for about a month. His daughter, Mrs. Babette Priebben of Imperial, bought him some tools to occupy his time, but "they just laid around," he said.

Finally he decided to give it a whack and tried to buy some walnut at a lumber yard. "Impossible to get," he said, for what he had in mind. He turned instead to old fence posts, in ready supply on his ranch.

"There's an old saying," he said, "A fence post will wear out two holes."

Stenger said the fence posts he uses are "50 or 75 years old. Nature has put her mark on 'em. This has a certain attraction for people."

He's never had any formal sculpture training, he said, and did his first project "just with knives. It was crude ... a pretty rough job."

The result was a face carved into the center of a post.

Since then, he's bought some fancier tools and has stuck to sculpting faces, mostly women's. "The human face is just about the most interesting thing there is."

'Like Women Better'

Once, he said, "a fella wanted to know why I didn't carve horses. He insisted I carve him a horse." He paused. "I like women better than horses." Sly grin.

The smooth grain of his faces contrast starkly with the rough, gnarled, rotted sides and tops of the posts. Ancient nail holes, worn dark by time, and wavering cracks only add to the flavor, he pointed out.

He uses no models, but each of the faces has its own character. "I try hard to get some expression in 'em."

When tenants vacated some quarters on his ranch, Stenger said he "left the lights and telephone and put in a bench," for a ready-made workshop.

"Except for some of those buckaroos that come in," he said his usual company while he sculpts is his dog Bird. (He used to call the dog Butch, but had to change it when he hired on a hand with the same name.)

"When I get down to the fine part," the face, "I really get involved and start whistling," he said. And he talks to Bird: "That's why my stuff has so much individuality."

He generally spends about 20 to 30 hours on each piece, he said, but "no more than two hours at a time," and then, only when he feels like it.

"It's been a crazy thing," he said, noting he'd rather be ranching.

About 100 Pieces
Although he hasn't kept exact count, Stenger said in the nine or ten years since he began sculpting, he guesses he's turned out about 100 pieces.

While "most are not for sale," the distinctive faces with the wenglass mark (also his cattle brand) have found their way to Sweden, Alabama, Missouri and "I don't know where all."

"Not very many of 'em get sold but there's enough of 'em disappear to keep my ego built up," he said.

When he began, he said, "I had no idea I'd be doing what I'm doing now." He made no claims of pure art: "I use power tools for roughing out," he said, rationalizing that even "Michaelangelo wouldn't go at it with a hammer and chisel any more."

Not Much Teaching
Before Lincoln, his teaching role was limited to one inauspicious demonstration for Imperial grade schoolers. ("They even created a song about me and these wood sculptures.")

When he was asked to come to Everett School, Stenger said he thought to himself, "I've been a cattleman all my life. What can a fella my age tell about art?"

He said he relies on the "eight-year-old level" of Show and Tell. "I'll show you what I got here and tell you how I did it."

The kids badgered him with questions, touched the sculptures, insisted he demonstrate his techniques, and some attended two and even three of the sessions.

"I've been lied to by experts," he said about the quality of his work. "The way those kids act—that's genuine. It's a whole new experience for me."

Block Testifies He Was Shot En Route To Sheriff's Office

NELIGH, Neb. (AP)—Former Elgin police officer Robert Block told an Antelope County Court jury Wednesday that he was shot in the neck by State Trooper Roy Van Winkle at the Antelope County Courthouse Dec. 8 even though he had told Van Winkle he was en route to the county sheriff's office.

Van Winkle is charged with a misdemeanor count of assault and battery. A jury of two women and four men were empaneled Wednesday with Judge Eugene McFadden of Norfolk presiding. In opening statements Van Winkle's attorney, Dan Jewell of Norfolk, said the defense would show that his action in shooting Block was in self defense.

Jewell said witnesses would testify that Block had a reputation for violence and made threats against Van Winkle to other people.

Block testified he was patrolling on Dec. 8 on the highway when he saw a car which he thought was suspicious going toward Neligh. He lost sight of the car but continued looking for it. Block said he didn't know he went through a speed check set up by troopers Van Winkle and William Bailey of the State Patrol.

He said he noticed red lights behind him and called the sheriff's office and told the dispatcher he was en route and wanted to see the sheriff.

Block said he was stopped near the Neligh airport and stepped out of his car and recognized Van Winkle. Block said he told Van Winkle he was going to the sheriff's office.

Block testified he drove to the sheriff's office

He said Van Winkle and Bailey pulled up near the office, and Block walked to the office with Van Winkle about ten feet behind him.

Block said as he went to the stairs to the jail he looked up and saw Van Winkle's gun aimed at his head and remembered hearing a shot.

He asserted he never took out his pistol or attempted to get it out.

Block said the holster strap over his pistol was not un-snapped.

He further testified that he did not threaten Van Winkle.

Phoenix Doctor To Talk At Rural Medical Day

Omaha (UPI)—Dr. James L. Grobe, a family practitioner from Phoenix, will be the featured speaker at the fourth annual Rural Medical Day here April 26 it was announced Wednesday.

The medical day effort is an attempt to give Nebraska communities seeking physicians a chance to talk with medical students. Dr. Robert E. Benthack of Wayne is the chairman of the event, which is sponsored by the University of Nebraska Medical School, the State Medical Association, Creighton University School of Medicine and the Nebraska chapter of the American Academy of Family Physicians.

Carrier Boys Off To Europe

One boy from Geneva and another from Lincoln left at midday Wednesday for a trip of a lifetime — a 12-day tour of Romania and Germany — under the sponsorship of the Sunday Journal and Star and Parade Magazine.

The two excited 13-year-olds are both carrier boys — Brad Brabec of Geneva for The Star and Jeff Charroin of Lincoln for The Journal.

Brad is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brabec of Geneva, and Jeff is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Charroin of 4331 No. 20th in Lincoln.

The two stopped briefly in Chicago, where Brad's grandmother helped them change to a plane to New York and visited with them briefly Wednesday afternoon, and they arrived in New York City late Wednesday afternoon.

In New York they were to visit some of the city's sights Thursday before boarding their plane for overseas late Thursday afternoon.

They took with them materials provided by the governor and by the mayors of Geneva and Lincoln for presentation to dignitaries in the places they will visit.

Their visits in Romania will include Dracula's castle, other castles and monasteries. In Germany they'll visit castles of different periods and the Cologne Cathedral.

They return to Lincoln May 1.

She told the group that agricultural pollution and pollution from Lincoln are nearly equal in Salt Creek.

She said the best way to curb agricultural pollution is to keep the soil on the land by using accepted conservation techniques.

Mrs. Hoppel said that the bacteria level in the creek immediately downstream from Lincoln is 100 times the state standard, but it is down from what it has been in the past.

The center is formerly the Child Savings Institute.

Budget Decisions Concern Varner

University of Nebraska President D. B. Varner Wednesday expressed "urgent concern" about budgetary decisions rendered by the Legislature this week.

Varner said NU is "deeply concerned" about the apparent decision to forego at 1973-74 capital construction budget and "disappointed" with the lack of consideration for Appropriations Committee amendments to Gov. J. James Exon's operational budget bill.

There is also an "urgent need" for a deficiency appropriation for the university, Varner said. The Legislature has placed a ban on further deficit appropriations in this session.

Varner's concerns were forwarded to Sen. Harold Simpson of Lincoln at his request. Simpson is a member of the Appropriations Committee.

"Understandably, the university is disappointed with the prospect that the recommendations of the Appropriations Committee in support of the operations of the university apparently will receive no consideration," Varner wrote Simpson.

The committee recommended a $1.2 million general fund increase over the governor's budget.

The committee and the legislative fiscal staff have worked "productively" to remedy some of the operational budget problems of the university," Varner said.

"We continue to hope that the Legislature will give consideration to these recommendations, but we appreciate that this is a matter which must be resolved by the Legislature itself."

Varner said he hopes the Legislature will decide to fund a 1973-74 capital construction budget bill, considering Exon's recommendations as a minimum.

The governor's capital construction proposals were "quite deficient in some areas, particularly as (they) pertained to the University of Nebraska at Omaha," Varner said.

The legislative fiscal staff has recommended a sharp increase in NU capital improvements funding over Exon's recommendations.

"To fail to act on the capital construction budget simply compounds the urgent needs of the university and defers for another year the construction of badly needed facilities," Varner said.

Varner specifically pointed to the need for a $589,400 matching grant to secure an allocation of $2,105,000 in federal funds to construct a new nursing building at the Medical Center in Omaha.

"We have been advised that this grant will be lost to the State of Nebraska if some provision is not made for providing additional local matching funds," he noted.

NU also needs $374,000 to provide supporting utilities for the structure, he said.

Deficiency appropriation needs, Varner said, are $150,310 for UNO, $150,705 for the Lincoln campus and $9,700 at the Medical Center.

Those funds would meet the deficiency which resulted from legislative enactment of a 1971 bill allowing more students to pay smaller resident tuition rates, rather than larger non-resident charges.

Tuition Okayed For Children Of POWs, MIAs

The Legislature Wednesday wrote into law a provision for free tuition for children of Nebraska service personnel who have become prisoners of war or are missing in action.

The measure, LB307, sponsored by Sen. Shirley Marsh of Lincoln, won 44-0 approval on final reading.

The free tuition applies to state educational institutions, including the University of Nebraska, state colleges and technical community colleges.

Existing law grants such free tuition to children of servicemen killed in action, or deceased or totally disabled as a result of military service.

Abuse Report Law OKd

The Legislature passed and sent to the governor Wednesday a bill which would give immunity to those who file reports of child abuse or abuse of incompetent adults.

The bill, LB207, was authored by Sen. Shirley Marsh of Lincoln and gained a 40-1 final vote of approval Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa was the lone dissenter.

Judicial Age Limit OKd

Reach 72 and you're out. That's the retirement mandate which the Legislature gave Wednesday to judges in Nebraska.

The forced retirement of judges on reaching 72 will not apply, however, to those on the bench at the time when the new law takes effect. That will be three months after the session adjourns assuming Gov. J. James Exon does not apply a veto.

President law calls for judges to retire on reaching 70, but allows them to complete the term for which they are elected.

The bill putting the retirement age at 72, applicable to all except judges presently serving, was LB353, sponsored by the Legislature's Retirement Committee.

It was passed on final reading

Two Families Win Elections

MARIETTA, Ill. (AP) — It was sort of a family affair.

In an election in this village of 169, Carol Walker defeated her sister-in-law, Janet Walker, for clerk.

Bad Drivers' Course OKd

Bad drivers would be required to take courses to improve their road habits under the terms of a bill passed Wednesday by the Legislature and sent to Gov. J. J. Exon.

The bill, LB414, won 44-0 approval on final reading.

It would require any motorist whose driver license had been suspended under the state's point system to take a driver's education and training course.

The measure was sponsored by Sen. Gerald Stromer of Kearney, who contended it would "provide a way to improve recognized bad drivers."

Unicam Struggles To Live With Budget Decision

By The Associated Press
Nebraska's Legislature struggled Wednesday with the question of how to live with its earlier decision to refrain from disturbing Gov. J. James Exon's budget recommendations or his promises to reduce sales and income taxes.

Lawmakers clung to a decision to pass only those bills which have no fiscal impact on the state's tax-supported general fund.

But here was uncertainty over whether the exclusion also included bills which will have an ultimate effect on sales and income tax rates although not carrying or accompanied by specific appropriations.

Lawmakers agreed to seek the advice of the attorney general on this point.

Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha attempted anew to undo what he termed "the emotional reaction that occurred after the governor came in." Specifically, he moved to have the body consider every bill as it comes up, without exclusions.

The Chambers motion was defeated 25-9.

"Every step of the way, every day, every hour on the hour I'm going to seek to undo what we did," Chambers vowed.

The sticky question of what the Legislature can and cannot do without upsetting the Exon fiscal program with its tax reduction potential turned up when Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell sought and got permission to call up LB311 on general file.

LB311 establishes a policy of having the state put up $3 for each $1 put up locally for establishment of community-based mental retardation programs. The accompanying appropriations bill, LB311A, appropriates $500,000 for the purpose.

Senators advanced both LB311 and LB311A from general file with the understanding that the attorney general's advice on LB311's fiscal effects will be obtained.

Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, Appropriations Committee chairman and a leader in what has been termed the Legislature's effort "to call the governor's bluff" on tax reduction, said the question is this: If LB311 is passed without LB311A, is the state legally obligated to appropriate the money to implement the public policy being stated?

Meanwhile, comments of senators indicated the body probably will stick with a decision made some weeks ago to recess after Thursday's meeting, take a week's vacation following Easter and return to work April 30. There had been talk of sine die adjournment this week.

There were signs of cracks also in the resolve not to pass any money bills beyond those endorsed by Exon.

At one point, Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, who made the original motion Monday to accept the governor's budget without change, leave other bills in repose and go home, said Wednesday: "It probably would be good sense to consider all these bills — even if I made the motion, which proves how wrong you can be."

At its sitting Tuesday afternoon, the Legislature declared its intention not to adjourn sine die even when the major appropriations bills are passed.

Securities Sales Tax Advanced

A bill which has not figured in Gov. J. James Exon's fiscal projections but which could raise an estimated $5.5 million a year was sent to the floor Wednesday by the Legislature's Revenue Committee.

On a 5-1 vote, the committee reports out Springfield Sen. Orval Keyes' LB91, which would apply the state sales tax to the commissions which brokers and investment firms charge when handling securities.

The $5.5 million estimate of potential revenue came from Keyes, who said he will push for floor adoption of the measure only if the Legislature enacts spending bills. Unless money bills create the need for new revenue sources, he'll abandon the bill, Keyes said.

At a public hearing on LB91 two months ago, representatives of investment firms said that applying the state's 2% sales tax to brokerage commissions would drive investors to do their business outside the state.

There were complaints at the hearing that language of the bill was so broad the tax would apply to transactions in government bonds, municipal bonds, savings bonds, noted to banks when discounted, and other financial paper.

Voting to send LB91 to the floor were Sens. Keyes, Dennis Rasmussen of Scotia, Walter Epke of York, Gary Anderson of Axtell and Cal Carsten of Avoca. Sen. J. W. Burbach of Cretton voted against advancement.

Study Sought On Disinterest In Farming

The Legislature was asked Wednesday afternoon to authorize an interim study of reasons why young people appear disinterested in farming as an occupation.

A resolution proposing the study was sponsored by Sens. J. James Waldron of Callaway, Duke Snyder of Omaha and Loran Schmit of Bellwood.

The resolution noted that the average age of Nebraska farmers is over 50. It also pointed out that a "serious shortage of capital available to young farmers" and "a serious crisis" in production of food and fiber could result.

The Legislative Council Executive Board will recommend which interim studies to be undertaken.

Other resolutions introduced Wednesday proposed interim studies of public health, taxation, pesticides, and gambling, including lotteries.

Senators Protest Handling Of Feed Grain Program

Thursday, April 19, 1973 The Lincoln Star 9
Drunk Driver Penalty OKd

By The Associated Press
A resolution protesting recent U. S. Department of Agriculture handling of the federal feed grain program was adopted on a 43-0 vote by the Legislature Wednesday.

There were indications also that the body would send a delegation to Washington to fortify the protest.

As explained on the legislative floor, farmers signed up for feed grain program participation under one set of rules. The rules were changed to reduce the percentage of setaside acres needed to qualify for government subsidy payments on feed grain, but farmers who already had signed were not permitted to take advantage of the new option.

The resolution sponsored by Sens. J. W. Burbach of Crofton, Leslie A. Stull of Alliance and Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff called it a violation of "the pre-signature understanding and agreement with producers." Specifically, Resolution 36 asks the USDA "to immediately reopen the federal feed grain program for sign-up by producers under the regulations change announced after the sign-up after the first period had expired." Burbach said it is "difficult to turn the Department of Agriculture around," but in this case he believes the USDA

"could be persuaded." Carpenter proposed that former State Sen. George Gerdes of Alliance, now executive director of the Legislative Council, head a delegation of about five senators to go to Washington and attempt "to get the regulations stabilized."

"Of people who know their way around Washington, no one is more expert than Senator Gerdes," Carpenter said. Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha, professing not to understand the feed grains subject, asked for an explanation. Given it, he suggested that what is called a "subsidy" for farmers and others is called "welfare" when applied to the poor and needy. He said he stood ready to support this "welfare bill for farmers."

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The Legislature Wednesday passed and sent to Gov. J. J. Exon a bill wanted by the governor as part of a crackdown on bad drivers. The bill, LB290, provides that any driver convicted of drunk driving would have his or her driver license suspended for 30 days, even if the person is placed on probation. The bill received 38-3 approval on final reading.

The measure is part of a package of six bills supported by Exon in his program of cutting down the state's traffic toll.

The measure was amended to exempt Lancaster County, where a widely praised probation program for drunken drivers has been in effect for several years.

Bill To Boost Rebuilding Of Declining Areas OKd

By United Press International
The Legislature passed and sent to the governor Thursday a bill designed to promote the reconstruction of Omaha's declining areas.

The bill, LB73, was titled the "Land Reutilization Act" and was sponsored by Sen. Glenn Goodrich of Omaha. It gained a 45-0 final approval vote.

Under the terms of the bill, Douglas County could form a land reutilization authority which would have the power to acquire land which is up for a foreclosure sale.

The purpose of the measure, according to Goodrich, is to allow the authority to stockpile small parcels of land until areas deemed large enough to be attractive to private industry can be put together.

In that way, the lawmaker contends, private industry would have a direct hand in rebuilding decayed areas instead of government through its various programs.

Airport Authority Review Passed

The Legislature decided Thursday that airport authorities for first and second class cities and villages should have their actions reviewed by an elected governing board until such time as at least three authority members are elected.

The decision came in the form of a 41-0 final vote of approval for Avoca Sen. Calvin Carsten's LB22.

According to Carsten, the bill was designed to provide a voter review of authority decisions, particularly in the area of land acquisitions, until all authorities are under direct voter control.

Insanity Plea Requirement OKd

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Defendants in criminal trials must inform the prosecution 10 days before the trial starts if the plea of insanity is to be used as a defense, the legislature decreed Wednesday.

The decision came as the unicameral passed LB501 by a 34-7 margin and sent the measure to Gov. J. J. Exon for his signature.

The bill was sponsored by the Judiciary Committee and Committee Chairman Sen. Roland Luedtke of Lincoln said it was based on model legislation proposed in other states.

Old Jail Is Lynching Safe

ALTAMONT, Tenn. (AP) — The Grundy County Court is going to build a new jail to replace the current facility — an ancient structure that has a metal room in the attic where the sheriff can lock himself up and be safe from lynch mobs.

The current three-story brick structure was built more than 100 years ago.

Tax Rebate Proposal Delivered

By The Associated Press
Gov. J. J. Exon Wednesday delivered to the legislature his promised proposal to permit tax rebates to some of the state's taxpayers as part of a state aid to education-property tax relief plan.

The proposed constitutional amendment was contained in LB576, sponsored for Exon by Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell.

Exon's state aid-property tax relief plan announced earlier this year included a system of rebates to some taxpayers, but the attorney general found constitutional flaws in the program. Exon then sponsored an "alternate" plan in the Unicameral to use revenue sharing funds for property tax relief while constitutional authorization for the system of limited rebates is sought.

Under the terms of LB576, the constitution would be changed to permit tax forgiveness or rebates for selected groups of taxpayers. Currently, such selected relief is prohibited by the constitutional provision that any relief must go to all taxpayers.

If approved by the Legislature, the constitutional amendment would go before voters in next year's elections.

Legislators Propose 3 Studies

The Legislature Wednesday was asked to authorize a trio of interim studies before the 1974 session.

The requests were contained in a trio of resolutions which will go now to the executive board of the Legislative Council, which will then authorize the studies.

The three studies include the need for road and street improvements in unincorporated areas, regulation of natural gas utilities and electric utilities with an eye toward developing a statewide energy policy, and a water-use policy.

Approval by the executive board is necessary and the board normally approves a number of between-session studies.

Other studies asked in later resolutions would cover federal land-use proposals and their effect on Nebraska, and a review of the operation of Metropolitan transportation authorities.

Bills Passed

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Bills passed on final reading in the Legislature Wednesday (Emergency clause).

LB27—requires the election, rather than the appointment, of certain members of airport authorities. C. Carsten 41-0.

LB73—adopts the land reutilization act to provide for disposition of tax-forfeited land. Goodrich 45-0.

LB290—Provides automatic 30-day suspension of driver's license for person convicted of drunk driving. E. DeCamp, for the governor 38-3.

LB319—increases and makes uniform cost of obtaining an abstract of a driving record from the state. E. Richendier 41-0.

LB319A—creates fund to receive increase abstract costs under LB319 and provides for the use of such fund. E. Richendier 45-0.

LB322—provides for the registration of historic and special interest vehicles for tax purposes. Fellman 41-0.

LB408—provides for the election of treasurers of Class III school districts which lie in part of metropolitan areas. E. Savage 39-0.

LB415—redefines farm truck to permit occasional carrying of camper units. Marsh 42-0.

LB455—extends from 120 to 145 months the limit for installment sale contract involving mobile homes. E. Warner 40-4.

LB482—Removes $1,000 annual limit on salary of director of state health laboratory in Scottsbluff. Health and Welfare Committee 43-2.

LB492—restricts membership in state employee retirement system to those employees who are permanent and fulltime. Retirement Systems Committee 43-2.

LB508—exempts employees of state colleges and technical community colleges from state retirement system. Retirement Systems Committee 45-0.

LB501—provides that defense in criminal trial must notify prosecution when insanity is to be used as defense. Judiciary Committee 34-7.

LB546—changes from 1973 to 1974 the date when immunization of school children against certain diseases shall be required. Health and Welfare Committee 43-1.

The bill, LB311, gained a 37-0 preliminary approval vote and would specifically allow the state to contract for facilities if no public ones were available.

A corresponding $500,000 appropriation measure to fund the effort gained a 25-7 first round vote.

Poll: Majority Favors Legalized Abortions

By LOUIS HARRIS
In the wake of a U.S. Supreme Court decision to allow legalized abortion up to three months of pregnancy, American public opinion has reversed itself and now favors legalized abortions by a 52-41% margin. Back last August, the public opposed making abortions legal by 46-42%, although last June people favored them by a narrow 49-43%.

The crystallizing of public opinion following a decision by the high court of an act of Congress is not an unusual development. During the 1950's, narrow divisions on education, jobs, and housing rights for minorities turned into decisive majorities following the landmark decisions of the Warren Court. In 1971, when Congress passed the law giving 18-year-olds the right to vote in federal elections, a close to even division of public opinion turned into a clear majority for granting young people the vote.

Thus, when the Harris Survey recently asked a nationwide cross section of 1,500 households about the abortion issue, as it had twice in 1972, the clearest margin yet favor of legalizing abortions emerged:
"The U.S. Supreme Court recently decided that state laws which make it illegal for a woman to have an abortion up to three months of pregnancy are unconstitutional, and that the decision on whether a woman should have an abortion up to three months of pregnancy should be left to a woman and her doctor to decide. In general, do you favor or oppose the U.S. Supreme Court decision making abortions up to three months of pregnancy legal?"

LEGALIZING ABORTIONS UP TO THREE MONTHS OF PREGNANCY		Aug. June
Favor	52%	42% 48%
Oppose	41%	46% 43%
Not sure	7%	12% 9%

During the last presidential campaign, both President Nixon and Sen. McGovern opposed legalizing abortions, and apparently their combined opposition was able to shift public opinion against such a step.

Louis Harris
Opinion Reversed

However, now with the high court decision, the pendulum has swung back toward the approval side by an 11-point margin.

The overall results, however, mask some sharp disagreements over the abortion issue which still run deep in American thinking. For example, Catholics are still opposed to legal abortions by a substantial 56-40% margin. Back in August, Catholics opposed the practice by 55-36%, indicating little shift in attitudes among this key group whose religious leaders strongly oppose legitimizing abortions.

In the latest survey, women just barely back leaving the abortion decision to the mother and her doctor by a narrow 48-45%, while men favor it by a much wider 56-36%. But last August women were opposed by a rather substantial 53-37% count.

In every Harris Survey on the abortion issue, perhaps the sharpest difference has not been by religion or sex but rather by age. In August, young people favored legalizing abortions by 52-39%, while those over 50 opposed such a move by 54-32%. In the latest survey, the young are better than 2-to-1 in support of the Supreme Court decision, 63-31%, but older people still are opposed by 49-44%.

The most troubling argument for the public to overcome in condoning legalized abortions is the concept that an abortion is in effect "taking a human life," once the infant is conceived and the fetus is alive. On the other hand, the arguments in favor of the court decision are essentially pragmatic, running along the lines that women will have abortions whether legal or illegal and that it is better to have them performed safely than to risk the life of the mother.

Basically, however, the safeguard of the mother consulting with a doctor, with a final decision arrived at from such discussion, appears to be the decisive argument now tipping the balance in favor of legalizing abortions.

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Sikundar Umedaly figures he must either give up the $10,000 Mercedes he brought here from Africa or smash it up. It wasn't built to Canadian safety standards and Umedaly, a refugee engineer, concluded that the only solution is a test under conditions prescribed — such as driving into a brick wall at 30 miles per hour.

CARMICHAEL

Arguments On Both Sides

If the public is still divided by key segments on the abortion issue, even though a majority now back making it legal, the arguments pro and con on the issue are by no means all on one side either. The cross section of 1,500 households was asked:

"Let me read you some statements which have been made about legalizing abortions up to three months of pregnancy. For each, tell me if you tend to agree or disagree."

PRO AND CON ON LEGAL ABORTIONS		Agree	Disagree	Not Sure
Pro Legal Abortions	Unless abortions are legalized, many women will die from having illegal and badly done abortions.	76%	16%	8%
Con Legal Abortions	So long as a doctor has to be consulted, the matter of an abortion is only a question of a woman's decision with her doctor's professional advice.	68%	23%	9%
Pro Legal Abortions	Many mothers have unwanted babies, and it is better to have abortions that are safe and legal.	57%	36%	7%
Con Legal Abortions	It is against God's will to destroy any human life, especially that of an unborn baby.	63%	28%	9%
Pro Legal Abortions	No one's life should be taken without permission of the individual, and an unborn infant obviously cannot give his permission.	55%	35%	10%
Con Legal Abortions	By legalizing abortions promiscuity will be encouraged, and that is wrong.	45%	44%	11%

Unique Award Established For Engineering Faculty

A $10,000 gift will provide the University of Nebraska's College of Engineering and Architecture with a unique recognition award for faculty members of its civil engineering department.

Through the University Foundation, Josef Sorkin, a retired senior partner in a prominent Kansas City engineering firm and a 1929 NU graduate, will reward civil engineering faculty for studies or accomplishments in the field of humanities.

Sorkin said that it is his "firm conviction that successful, inspired teaching requires expert knowledge of the subject but is equally dependent on the intellectual prowess of the professors."

Income from the gift invested by the foundation will support grant-in-aids or recognition awards as determined by a committee within the College, selected by Dean George P. Hanna.

Sorkin has spent most of his engineering career in the Kansas City area, joining the firm now known as Howard, Needles, Tammen & Bergendoff in 1939. Since his retirement from active practice he has continued serving the firm as Chairman of the "Advisory Board." He is married to the former Helen Ruth O'Connell, a 1931 graduate of the university.

In 1970 Mr. and Mrs. Sorkin established an endowed scholarship fund in the University Foundation for engineering students with an initial and subsequent gifts, now amounting to $20,500.

Attorney Says He Made 'Honest Mistake'

By United Press International
Scotts Bluff County Attorney Marvin L. Holscher told the State Supreme Court he did make a mistake in connection with the collection of fees, but not one which warrants disciplinary action.

A judicial committee of inquiry has recommended that the Supreme Court consider action against Holscher in connection with the collection of $14,540 in fees on tax foreclosure cases.

The committee said the county attorney filed claims for and received the fee money before the cases were actually closed, which was in violation of state laws.

Holscher's attorneys in the matter said that "whatever technical violation of the statute may have occurred, it occurred through inadvertence" and not an attempt to get money he didn't earn.

The court was told Holscher "did not attempt to hide, deceive or mislead the county board" on the matter.

The attorneys for Holscher also presented to the court a statement from the Scotts Bluff County Board which also said the matter was an "honest mistake."

"Although a mistake has apparently been made and the fees should not have been paid until the properties were sold, we believe that this was an honest mistake and we believe that Mr. Holscher had no intent to deceive the county," the board statement said.

The board added that Holscher "has always been honest and truthful" with the county board.

As to the tax foreclosure cases, the board statement said it was because of pressure which it applied that Holscher initiated the cases.

The board said the matter had been of concern for some time and it thought the time had come to clear the records

Three Drug Grants OK'd

Washington (AP) — Three grants to be used in drug education programs in Nebraska were announced Wednesday by Rep. Charles Thone, R-Neb.

A grant of $2,358 will go to the Nebraska Indian Intertribal Development Corporation at Winnebago Nebraska Wesleyan University in Lincoln. The city of Fremont Drug Abuse Council was granted $2,100.

Computer Bid Analysis Is Planned

A Department of Administrative Services (DAS) official said Wednesday that outside consultants will arrive tentatively during the last week of April to analyze bids on the state's central computer system.

Don Skeahan, deputy director of DAS, said meanwhile a series of benchmarks to measure the three bidders' performance has been completed and the evaluation of those tests is going on.

The consultants are being provided through the Council of State Governments. DAS Director Gus Lieske called for rebidding on the state's present computer system last July, because he said the $1.2 million the state pays IBM annually is too high.

Bids on the new system were submitted by IBM, Univac and Honeywell. The bid evaluation was supposed to be completed originally last December, however, a legislative committee urged the administration to delay the awarding of bids until some questions were answered regarding the need for the rebidding.

Senators were concerned about vagueness in the bid specifications, the state's future needs in the computer field and charges of administration favoritism toward Honeywell.

However, late last year the senators gave up their investigation, and the administration's bid evaluation process resumed. Skeahan was unable to say when the complete analysis of the bids will be completed.

One Guard Dismissed; Two Resign

One Nebraska Penal Complex guard has been dismissed and two have resigned after being requested to do so as a result of normal "ongoing investigation," Warden Charles Wolff said Wednesday.

Wolff said one guard was asked to leave because he was suspected of introducing narcotics into the complex and the second was asked to leave because he was suspected of introducing alcohol into the complex.

The third guard was dismissed because he refused to take a polygraph test, Wolff said.

Wolff said the departures were not the result of an "organized overall investigation," but rather investigations of several persons that "came to a head at the same time."

Norman Sullivan, 42, of Cortland, supervisor of the penal complex machine shop, is scheduled to appear in Lancaster County Court Friday on a charge of conspiracy to deliver a controlled substance.

Wolff said the three guards who have vacated their positions also worked in the field of trades, but not in the same location as Sullivan.

'Head Tax' Suit Filed - By Frontier

North Platte, Neb. (AP) — Frontier Airlines has filed a suit to test the legality of imposing a "head tax" at airports.

The declaratory judgment suit was filed Wednesday in Lincoln County District Court against the North Platte Airport Authority. It alleges the imposition and collection of a head tax is contrary to state law and violates the U.S. Constitution.

The $2 tax imposed by the North Platte Airport Authority went into effect March 15.

Frontier contends the lease agreement signed by the firm and the Airport Authority does not require Frontier to collect any charges, taxes, or other fees from boarding passengers.

Frontier said it is now collecting the head tax under protest and penalty of law.

Frontier said the taxes will have an adverse effect on its business, reduce traffic and thereby revenues.

The head tax was imposed to create revenue to help finance security measures ordered by the Federal Aviation Administration.

17 Properties Bought by N.P. Renewal Agency

North Platte (AP) — North Platte Urban Renewal Authority officials reported Tuesday that all properties sought by the authority were acquired during the fiscal year which ends April 30.

Executive Director Arlen Wiggs said the 17 properties cost $540,000.

Wiggs said he is pleased with the authority's first year of operation and is considering a special session if the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development authorizes the authority to demolish some buildings on the newly acquired land.

The authority has submitted a demolition contract to federal officials for approval, and Wiggs said he expects approval before the end of the month.

Survivors Honored
MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Uruguay will issue two postage stamps to commemorate the "miracle of the Andes" in which 16 Uruguayan plane crash survivors stayed alive 69 days in Chile. Some survivors of the Oct. 13 plane crash ate parts of the bodies of the victims.

San Francisco — A sunny day to deposit money by. So down to the village jug and ran hard into the plate glass doors. Bang! Welcome Depositor!

I said: "Good morning, Banker. Just dropped in to deposit a little loose scratch."

The Banker is all smiles. This is not our checking account bank. This is where we keep the getaway money.

(They really should do something about those glass doors. I nearly brained myself when I hit them head on. A brainless depositor is little use.)

The bank has piped in "Music to Borrow By." "Tender is the Second Mortgage." "How Deep is My Ocean of Debt."

I go to the village bank so I can see money. I bank by mail with the city bank. I never see a weeping dime.

If I need a loan, my Money Man talks to the Banker.

In shorter days, I took my paycheck to Hanno's, the journalists' bar. They cashed it. They took out the score I'd run up the week before. I took what was left and went to the pawn shop. I got my watch out.

The rest I spent during the week, singing in the ale houses. When I was pressed to the wall, I went to the Banker. He looked stern. He called for my rap sheet. If I had paid well the last time, he loaned me a hundred.

It took a struggling year to pay it back.

Village banks are built with a homey touch. There's a fire burning cozily in the corner. Flowers in vases behind the payoff wickets. The Banker sits at a desk in the middle of the floor — if you want to say howdy, just walk over and say it.

Our city bank (where we keep the in-and-out moola) was built in other days. The wickets are barred with brass. The Banker is somewhere behind a glass door. (Opaque so you cannot see whether he is counting the paperclips or stuffing the little black bag for a country where they can't extradite you.)

The village damper is open country. The Banker's desk has a pad of ruled yellow paper. A half dozen sharpened yellow pencils.

Hidden in the attic are the cameras. If somebody tries to make a withdrawal with a pistol, the girl steps on the judas button.

The film begins to roll. Smile, you're on Candid Camera! The Johnny Nabs look at the film. "Why, it's our old friend Arthur Duffy."

They nail Arthur before the money has time to draw breath, let alone interest.

The village jug is relaxed. "Well, well," says the Banker. "Haven't seen you for a long time."

The Banker passes out free matches: "Bank On Us."

The teller is a girl in Hot Pants.

The drawer is full of money. In plain sight. My money. I don't get to see my money very often. Rich and green and rustling.

I gave the girl teller a check for deposit. She put it down in my little green book. She went over and wrote it on my file card. (Some hot pants! It's a pleasure to do business with such a bank.)

She said: "Have a nice day." The Banker waved good-bye. I walked out — into the glass doors and banged my head again.

NWU Receives Science Grant

Nebraska Wesleyan University has received a $3,760 grant from the National Science Foundation to support an undergraduate research participation program this summer.

Under the grant, the only one awarded in Nebraska, two students will be supported for 11 weeks this summer as they do independent research in neutron activation analysis or x-ray fluorescence analysis as applied to water pollution studies, according to Dr. Walter French Jr., professor of physics and project director.

The NWU program is one of 191 projects at 155 colleges being supported by the NSF in grants of slightly over $2,000,000, Dr. French noted.

Cuban Exiles Send Statement To Nixon

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Angered by what they consider increasing signs of Cuba-U.S. coexistence, Cuban exile leaders are mobilizing a propaganda campaign against the Nixon administration.

A group of widely known exile figures from Miami's large refugee colony recently sent a five-page protest memorandum to the President. Signed by 44 spokesmen for militant, civic, labor and professional organizations, the document asked that exiles not be restrained in their struggle against the Communist regime of Fidel Castro.

This is being done, they believe, by accords such as the Cuba-U.S. hijack treaty and unannounced and unofficial agreements between this country and Cuba and the Soviet Union.

The exiles say that the air-sea piracy pact "forbids all kinds of actions against the present Cuban regime."

The exile statement is one of several recent actions revealing the mood of the Cuban colony in this country to escalating pressures for a thaw in relations with Castro's Cuba.

The militant Alpha 66 organization, headquartered in Miami, petitioned affiliates of the World Anti-Communist League to send protest messages to President Nixon and Organization of American States Secretary-General Galo Plaza on the piracy pact.

The executive committee of the league, which says it has representatives in 64 countries on five continents, then followed with a message asking member groups to protest the agreement's clause which prohibits anti-Castro activity by Cuban exiles "not only from American territory but from any other place."

The Anti-Communist Confederation of Latin America, a division of the league, said any attempt to enforce that section would be "a violation of national sovereignty of the Latin-American countries."

By DICK HOLMAN
Star Staff Writer

Unless we face up to our problems, there could be a going-out-of-business sale for the American economy," Dr. William W. Stahl told about 100 area bankers in Lincoln Wednesday.

Stahl, vice president and senior economist with the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City, spoke at the 1973 Economic Forum sponsored by the bank in connection with the Nebraska Bankers Association.

He said "there has been a good deal of advice forthcoming" from the administration, "but I don't think it's addressed itself to the problem."

Defy Textbooks

Economic policies "can only work by operating them through existing institutions," Stahl said, maintaining that current U.S. policies defy economic textbook fundamentals.

When demand drops, he said instead of cutting prices, engaging in sharp competition, maintaining production and combating unemployment, prices went up, production was cut back and employment went down.

This trend has led to controls, Stahl said, which "are somehow equated with patriotism." But he said "controls have a way of growing" and the result "may be different from" what businessmen expected. He asserted that businessmen haven't used the time under controls wisely, and that their acceptance "suggests a reluctance to address ourselves to fundamental causes."

"We live under controls and tariffs and quotas," he said, "yet we talk about venting the genius of the free enterprise system."

Although he admitted we are now in an economic boom, "this tremendous growth rate in the first quarter (of 1973) will not be repeated in the second and third and fourth quarters."

Stahl said one problem is devaluation of the dollar, which "has been touted as a boon to consumers." Rather, he said, "it was a confirmation of the weakness of the dollar on foreign exchange markets."

'Probably Correct'

He said administration projections on spending and rates of growth "are probably correct," but noted he would have to part company with the administration's optimism on reducing prices.

In another address, Dr. C. Edward Harshbarger, Federal Reserve Bank agricultural economist, was more optimistic about the future of the farm picture.

He admitted the "estimates aren't a sure thing," but he predicted that farm prices and income will rise to another record in 1973.

Could Be Clouded

Harshbarger said the outlook could be clouded by boycotts, higher product costs and prices, and curtailment of government payments to farmers.

But he pointed out some developments that sparked his good news.

He said the government will allow idle acreage to diminish from 60 million acres in 1972 to 10-15 million acres in 1973. With perhaps 50 million more acres of cropland in production, he said, larger food supplies will result and eventually lower food prices.

Further, eased grazing requirements "should increase the meat supply" and lower that cost.

In 1973, Harshbarger said he

— a 30% increase of agricultural imports over 1972.

— a 10% increase in crop output.

— a 15% increase in soybeans, and even more if corn is down.

— a 7-8% increase in corn acreage, if the weather holds.

— a 6% higher wheat yield.

"The livestock picture for the remainder of the year continues bright," he said, and hog supplies should show a significant increase in the second quarter.

He noted that the total farm debt "will be a new record high," up $5-$7 billion over 1972's $70 billion total. But he warned "those larger borrowings will push interest rates higher in 1973."

Sidney (AP) — Construction has begun on the Tri-State Generation and Transmission Co-op's 115-kilovolt line from Big Springs to Lewellen.

Wheat Belt Public Power officials said the project is essential to meeting the co-op's peak load requirements in the Oshkosh-Lewellen area this summer.

It had been delayed about 30 days, when five Garden County

Ne Win In Japan

Tokyo (UPI) — Ne Win, Burma's prime minister and chairman of the revolutionary council, arrived for an unofficial visit in Japan. He is scheduled to leave May 2.

farmers complained to the federal government that it would interfere with the flights of ducks and geese.

Wheat Belt said the line would be completed about June 1. The farmers had complained to the Environmental Protection Agency, which asked for an environmental impact study.

Tri-State said Wednesday it anticipates the funds will be released following the co-op's agreement to modify the route in the vicinity of the North Platte River.

The agreement was worked out in a recent meeting with State Game and Parks Commission officials.

NBC Requests Extra 2 Feet, Planning Commission Denies It

Construction of the National Bank of Commerce's 12-story building at 13th and O could be delayed if the City-County Planning Commission follows through on action taken Wednesday.

The commission deadlocked on granting NBC vacation of two feet on the south side of P between 12th and 13th.

The vote was 4-2—one vote short of the needed majority. The matter will be carried over for action next Wednesday.

North Of Building

The $10 million building will stretch from O to P. The vacation of the sidewalk requested would front the north side of the structure.

Attorney Wally Richardson explained that the vacation is needed for both "aesthetics and economics."

Without the waiver, he said a substantial change in the design of the building would be required. He explained that the building is being constructed on modular basis.

If the two-foot vacation is denied, he said it would be likely that the northernmost module of the building would have to be eliminated, resulting in an adjustment of the support columns.

'Could Cause Delay'

"This could cause some delay in construction," he said

Additionally, such a structural change would result in the loss of 8,000-square-feet of rentable space in the building.

Commissioners Art Duerschner and G.E. Deitemeyer voted against the application.

Duerschner noted that NBC owns the adjacent Rampark building, which juts out over the public-right-of-way.

"I think we'd be setting an unfortunate precedent if we grant this, too," he said.

Duerschner, who is an architect, added, "I can see no reason why they can't work within the space limitations."

Deitemeyer commented, "I wonder what would happen if Joe Blow made such a request."

Commissioners Bruce Nims, Thelma Miller, Louis Shackelford and George Williamson voted to grant the vacation. Commissioners Bob Allington, George David and Jerome Warner were absent.

Plat Approved

In other action the commission approved the preliminary plat of Capitol Beach East, located east of the lake.

Developer Ed Cople is proposing to build 543 single family houses on a 160-acre tract. He is proposing that the land adjacent to the lake be lowered in elevation to allow the water to surround a number of piers.

Several residents living on Lakeshore Dr. questioned whether one access road would be sufficient to serve the area.

In further action the commission again deferred action on a zoning change request made by Alvin Olson to build apartments at 40th and Huntington.

The University of Nebraska Board of Regents is opposing the zoning change. The university owns (property) in the area which it uses for agricultural research.

The commission also held public hearings or took action on:

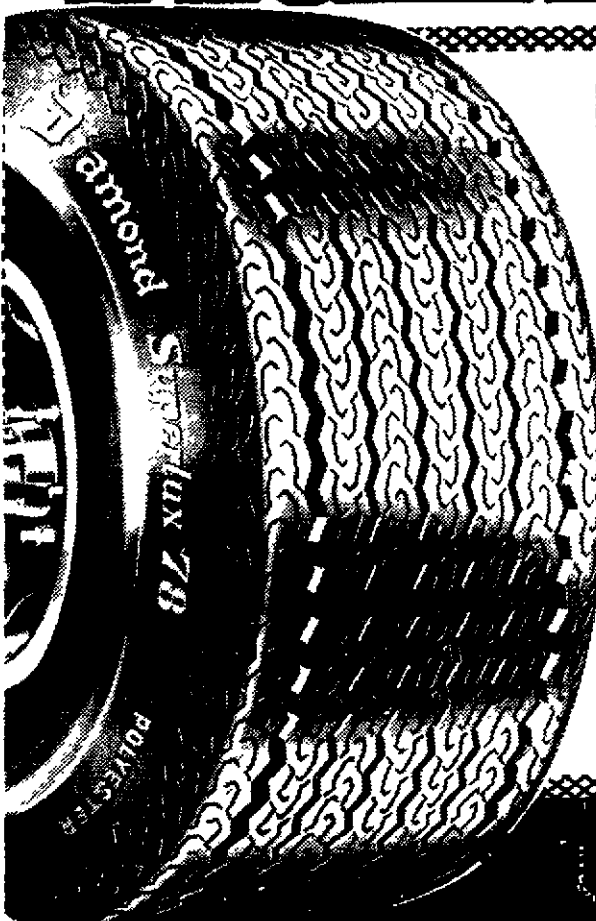

—Application of Everett Evers, from D Multiple to K Light Industry on NE corner of 20th and V.
—Application of Noel Chadd from A-2 Single to G Local Business, at 14th and Cornhusker Hwy.

Coast-To-Coast Mailing Planned By Boys Town

BOYS TOWN, Neb. (AP)—A nationwide mailing will be undertaken by Boys Town this spring to explain how it will use some of the millions of dollars it has accumulated over the years, a spokesman said Wednesday.

A federal tax return reveals that the institution had a net worth of $208,767,498 as of Dec. 31, 1971.

"The letter will not be an appeal for funds," according to Henry Straka, a Boys Town spokesman. "We just want to let people know we are still here."

Straka said the letter would be a progress report "on what we are doing and what we have under consideration."

He declined to reveal the contents of the letter, to be mailed next month, because there might be changes in it.

The most recent announcement of future plans made by Boys Town was Jan. 17 when the institution said it would commission a New York management consultant firm to begin a seven-month study of long-range goals.

The non-profit institution also has announced plans for a $30 million center for study and treatment of speech and hearing defects in children.

The board also has given preliminary approval to a $40 million center to study factors that affect the emotional, intellectual and social development of boys and girls.

Teenagers Plan 24-Hour Fast For Nicaragua

Ten teenagers from the First Church of God youth group will fast for 24 hours this weekend to raise contributions for the hungry population of Managua, Nicaragua.

They are seeking purchasers of their "starving time," according to the Rev. Reimar Schultze, pastor.

Saturday noon, the group and their adult supervisors will begin their fast with a prayer service and repair work for the church. They will sleep at the church and will be allowed only water during the fast time. Their vigil will end Sunday noon after Easter services, Schultze said.

"The youth group will take seriously the needs of Managuans caused by the earthquake disaster of December. About 40,000 have died, many of starvation," Schultze said.

The money collected will be sent to Managua by Project Partner, Inc., a nonprofit organization.

Italian Leader, Nixon Discuss Relationships

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon and Italian Prime Minister Giulio Andreotti completed two days of talks Wednesday "in the spirit of friendship and complete candor," presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler announced.

The two leaders, Ziegler said, had a "full discussion on international problems."

The talks, Ziegler said, focused on relations between the United States and its allies in Western Europe, including "all matters relating to this relationship."

Another item of discussion, Ziegler told newsmen, was the problem of the Middle East "against the background of Italy's special role in the Mediterranean."

Mayor Sees Broader Amendment Impact

In his latest attack on Amendment No. 2, Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf said Wednesday that the proposal would affect all highways, even those costing less than $15 million.

The amendment, which sets new planning procedures for roadways costing in excess of $15 million, was placed on the May 1 ballot through an initiative petition drive.

The mayor said, "It is obvious that the proponents either have not sufficiently done their own homework, or they are attempting to mislead the public by not presenting all the facts relating to the proposed amendment."

He contended that the amendment provides that no highway — regardless of its cost — shall be planned, constructed or maintained unless certain steps are carried out by the Planning Department.

"Thus, the proposed amendment will affect improvements in all highways, even those costing less than $15 million," Mayor Schwartzkopf stated.

Another section of the amendment defines "highway" as a "vehicular way, which has been designated as part of the state or federal highway system," he said.

The mayor listed the following improvements involving expenditure of local funds which are scheduled to begin this spring and summer on streets as falling within that definition:

- 70th from L to South.
- 13th from Hudson to Hwy. 2.
- Holdrege from 29th to 46th.
- East Cornhusker Hwy. from 54th to 72nd.
- West Cornhusker Hwy. in the vicinity of the airport access road.

Additionally, Schwartzkopf said that if the amendment is adopted, expenditure of local funds for these projects would not be possible until the Planning Department and the City Council have taken additional time and expense to reconsider each improvement.

"Therefore, it would be impossible for any of these city-constructed major street improvement projects to begin this year," he said, "or for the city to spend further of its funds on state projects according to schedule."

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Guerrillas bombed a meat-packing factory in Northern Ireland on Wednesday as the outlawed Irish Republican Army came under growing pressure from British troops.

Damage at the factory in Clones, County Monaghan, was estimated at $168,000. A company spokesman said he knew of no reason why guerrillas would want to bomb the building.

"Relations between us and all shades of local opinion are good," he said. No one was injured in the explosion.

Four men, one armed with a gun, raided the post office in the village of Ardglass, County Down. The men snatched a mailbag containing registered letters.

THE LINCOLN ASSN. OF PLBG, HTG, AND COOLING CONTRACTORS AND THEIR ASSOCIATES, PROUDLY PRESENT THE FOLLOWING PROCLAMATION!

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, The plumbing and piping industry holds a major responsibility for the protection of public health and the advancement of living standards; and

WHEREAS, Plumbing and piping are ancient professions that have provided sanitation and fresh water since man began to gather in communities; and

WHEREAS, Plumbing and piping contractors are the original ecologists and have engaged in this field for nearly a century, and have taken the lead in the development and application of environmental measures to insure clean air and clean water; and

WHEREAS, Thousands of contractors are actively engaged in the plumbing, pipefitting and apprenticeship in building construction, public works, and piping professions; and

WHEREAS, Lincoln's leadership in agriculture is greatly enhanced by our industrial development and agricultural contractors; and

WHEREAS, The National Association of Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Contractors and its affiliated state and local associations will lead their total industry of 2 million men and women in special activities to focus attention during on the vital contribution they make to the quality of life in our city, state and our nation.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Sam Schwartzkopf, Mayor of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, do hereby urge all citizens to join with me in giving special recognition to this vital profession and to take cognizance of the special events arranged for this time.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Official Seal of the City of Lincoln, to be affixed this 9th day of March, 1973.

CIA Secretly Trained Tibet Rebels In Rockies

©The New York Times

Washington — The Central Intelligence Agency set up a secret base in the Colorado Rockies to train Tibetan guerrillas in mountain warfare in the late 1950s, when there was an uprising against Chinese rule in Tibet, a new book discloses.

In the book, "The Politics of Lying," David Wise, the author, said the agency began training Tibetans in 1958 in a deserted World War II Army base near Leadville, Colo.

The operation continued into the early months of the Kennedy administration, he said.

Wise, former Washington bureau chief of the New York Herald-Tribune and co-author of "The Invisible Government," a 1964 book about the CIA, wrote that the Tibetan training program apparently ended abruptly in December 1961, six months after the Bay of Pigs fiasco and a few days after its cover was almost blown at an airport near Colorado Springs.

"Ironically, it was the snow and the mountains — the very factors that led the CIA to select Colorado for the training base — that almost caused the operation to surface," Wise wrote.

A group of Tibetan trainees was loaded aboard a bus at the Army camp for a 130-mile trip to a nearby airfield in Colorado Springs, where a large Air Force jet was waiting to fly them out of the country before dawn.

"But coming down the mountain," Wise wrote, "the bus skidded off the road in the snow. As a result of the delay caused by the accident, it was daylight when the Tibetans arrived at the field."

Once there, the book went on, overzealous military security officials herded the airport's employees around at gunpoint, but not until at least one of them saw the Tibetans board the jet.

Complaints to the local sheriff were made about the manhandling of the civilians, and a few newspaper articles describing the bizarre encounter were published in Colorado Springs and Denver. But, Wise wrote, the full implications of the incident did not become public.

The dispute between Tibet and China began in the 13th century, Wise wrote, with China periodically claiming Tibet as part of its territory. After mainland China fell to Mao Tse-tung in 1949, the border strife intensified and China also began to increase its support for the Panchen Lama, an incarnate who was regarded by the Tibetans as second only to the Dalai Lama in religious importance.

War between the two countries broke out in 1950 and Tibet was conquered by China the next year. During the mid-1950s, however, Wise wrote, Tibetan guerrillas began insurgent warfare against their conquerors and CIA officials "concluded that the situation offered an ideal opportunity" for covert U.S. aid.

In 1959, the Dalai Lama, who had been permitted to stay in the country by the Chinese, was forced to flee to India after a Chinese mortar attack on his palace. CIA officials later concluded, Wise wrote, that some of the guerrillas who had been trained in the Colorado Rockies were responsible for guiding the Dalai Lama to safety.

Open warfare broke out again after the escape; thousands of Tibetans were killed and the Dalai Lama's government was dissolved by the Chinese. India's decision to grant sanctuary to the Dalai Lama also increased the pressure between that nation and China, the book said.

The CIA's secret training operation was hardly a success, Wise wrote, because the guerrillas "infiltrated into Tibet by the CIA were attempting to harass the Chinese, not to free the country; in the long run it is doubtful that it made very much difference since by 1961 Communist China had tightened its grip on Tibet."

AT&T Chief Wants 20-Cent Pay Telephones

CHICAGO (AP) — The chairman of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. said Wednesday he would like to see the rate of pay-telephone calls increased nationwide to 20 cents.

John deButts said at a news conference before the annual AT&T stockholders meeting that the increasing costs of maintaining public pay telephone service demands the increases.

He said the state of Washington has already approved a 15-cent call rate and AT&T has applied for increases in several other states.

Post Says Mitchell Helped Plan Watergate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell approved and helped plan the Watergate bugging operation, a former high-level Nixon aide has told federal prosecutors, the Washington Post has reported.

Jeb Stuart Magruder, former deputy campaign manager for Nixon's re-election committee, also has said White House counsel John W. Dean III approved and planned the bugging of Democratic national headquarters, the Post said in its Thursday editions.

The paper quoted sources in the White House and the Committee for the Re-election of the President as saying Magruder implicated Mitchell, former chairman of the Nixon campaign, and Dean in statements to federal prosecutors Saturday.

It also quoted one source as saying Magruder's statements, expected to be repeated Thursday before the federal grand jury probing the case, are expected to result in the criminal indictments of both Mitchell and Dean.

The paper said one unnamed source reported also that Mitchell and Dean later arranged to buy the silence of the seven convicted Watergate conspirators.

It quoted the sources as saying Dean's resignation is imminent. The paper also said that sources "in the executive branch" said Wednesday that White House chief of staff H. R. "Bob" Haldeman also may resign as a result of recent Watergate disclosures, though there is no known evidence linking him to criminal involvement.

Magruder, now director of policy planning for the Commerce Department, "chose to talk because he felt the walls were coming in on him," the Post quoted one source as saying.

The Post said Magruder provided the prosecutors with a first-hand account of a February 1972 meeting in then Atty. Gen. Mitchell's office to discuss and approve the illegal electronic eavesdropping operation at the Watergate.

Those who attended were Mitchell, Dean, Magruder and G. Gordon Liddy, one of those convicted in the Watergate trial and a former White House aide, the Post said.

$600,000 To Animals

London (UPI) — An elderly spinster who died Feb. 7 left almost $600,000 to animal charities and $62,500 to her chauffeur. The will of Sybil Waller provided chauffeur George Davis also two valuable properties, Miss Davis's cars, her dog and other items.

War Crimes Shown In Papers—Ellsberg

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Daniel Ellsberg told jurors Wednesday that the Pentagon papers reveal possible "war crimes" by the United States in Vietnam, "some of which, I regret to say, I participated in myself."

Ellsberg, under cross-examination by a government prosecutor, said that high U.S. officials planned to break the Geneva peace accords of 1954 and probably committed "a crime against the peace" under the Nuremberg principles, as I understand them.

When the question of "war crimes" in Vietnam was raised by Asst. U.S. Atty. David Nissen, Ellsberg appeared stunned. He thought for a moment, then answered quietly, "I'm not a lawyer, Mr. Nissen, but as I read the law, I believe there were illegal actions, some of which, I regret to say, I participated in myself, without asking myself what they were."

Ellsberg, speaking just before the prosecutor ceased questioning and the defense began redirect questioning, said there are about 1,000 pages of "evidence" of crimes in the top-secret Pentagon study of the Vietnam war. He has admitted copying the documents in hope they would alert Congress to the need to end the war.

Nissen referred to "war crimes" after being barred by U.S. District Court Judge Matt

Byrne from asking whether Ellsberg believed he was breaking the law when he copied the Pentagon study.

The prosecutor apparently was seeking to show that Ellsberg did not support the policies of his own country and acted against the country's best interests when he copied the papers.

Attorney Leonard Weinglass said the defense had decided to call one more witness, Richard Falk, professor of international law at Princeton University. Weinglass said Falk would be available to testify Thursday morning.

The defense said Falk, an opponent of the war, would discuss the issue of whether war crimes were committed in Vietnam.

Much of the prosecutor's day-and-a-half questioning of Ellsberg had stressed that the defendant made a promise to the Rand Corp. consulting firm not to copy any classified documents entrusted to him as a researcher there. Ellsberg's attorneys objected repeatedly that Rand rules are not laws and Ellsberg is not being tried for breaking promises.

The defense succeeded on that point at the end of Ellsberg's testimony when the judge told jurors "Ladies and gentlemen, the violation of a promise is not before you. It is the violation of law that you will consider, and I will instruct you on the law."

Union Busting Charges Levelled At Teamsters

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany accused the Teamsters of "union busting" in taking over California field worker contracts, and pledged full support Wednesday to Cesar Chavez' United Farm Workers union.

Meany said the Teamsters, in collusion with the growers, were trying to wipe out Chavez' rival AFL-CIO affiliated union.

"The Teamsters' union busting drive would be absolutely disgraceful under any circumstances," Meany complained in a statement. "But for the nation's largest union to seek to destroy this smaller union representing some of the most exploited workers in the nation is intolerable."

The AFL-CIO leader joined Chavez' plea for a congressional investigation of alleged illegal payoffs to the Teamsters, and said he was sending the federation's top organizer back to California "to give the farmworkers all the assistance we can provide."

Teamsters President Frank Fitzsimmons branded the payoff charges "absolutely ridiculous and unfounded."

The battle lines were drawn Sunday when the Teamsters announced they had signed contracts with grape growers in California's Coachella Valley covering 5,500 workers whose contract with the UFW expired.

Each union claims the workers want it to represent them. Farm workers don't fall under National Labor Relations Act rules for determining a representative union by election.

House Earmarks $58 Million To Extend Capitol West Front

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House voted 215 to 218 Wednesday to appropriate $58 million to extend the West front of the Capitol to provide more office space for members and committees.

The vote confirmed Tuesday's tentative decision to proceed with the controversial project recommended unanimously by a commission of congressional leaders of both parties. The Tuesday vote was 195 to 189.

The funds were included in a $550 million appropriation bill sent to the Senate by voice vote.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

By SIDNEY OMARR

Forecast For Thursday

How about saying something new or different about Sagittarius? — Mrs. Sharon Crump, Tinley Park, Ill. Response: Sagittarians are basically philosophical, not easy to understand and often appear pedantic. A Sagittarian I wish I had known: Nostradamus. A Sagittarian I wish I had taken a liking to: the Andrew Carnegie. A Sagittarian who truly was a wise man: Paracelsus.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You can get down to basic issues. What appeared elusive becomes available. Make most of material at hand. Friend who appears irritable is undergoing emotional pressure.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Get rid of burden which was handed you. Don't attempt to hang on to past. Key now is to perceive future trend. Strive to extricate yourself from situation which is destructive.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You get opportunity to be more independent in thought action. You can make now start by applying original methods. Accent is on work aimed at building toward future security.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Trust intuitive intellect. You know what you want to do — key is to have courage of convictions. Aquarian is likely to be involved. Creative resources can be successfully utilized.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Forces tend now to be scattered. It is necessary to redirect energies. You have been moving in face of opposition. A lighter touch would help remove roadblock.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Take practical course of action. Means check details stick with familiar material. Relatives may squabble. Don't become involved. Concentrate efforts.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Mate or partner could be extravagant without your knowledge. Improve communications. Discuss various areas of vital importance with special emphasis on money.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Slow pace so that your objective comes into focus. You get action now where there was delay. Be prepared to state needs. Save reliance for another time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Relatives and neighbors appear peevish. Your patience could be tried by some who dare chide and complain. Key now is to be selective. Much that occurs is due to behind scenes maneuvering. Wait for additional information.

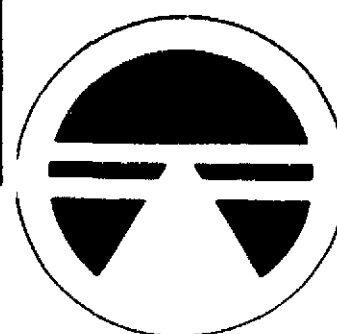

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Tendency is to hope for too much too soon. Indications are that you profit through creative endeavors. But there are obstacles to overcome. Older individual has to be convinced. Once this is done, it will be clear sailing.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You get start in right direction. Burden is removed and it was not your own in first place. Get rid of guilt feelings. You do have your own life to live. Now start living it!

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You are encouraged by realizing that secret fear was mostly illusory. Leo plays prominent role. Strive for added independence. Direct your own affairs.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are an original thinker, a pioneer, independent and inventive. You draw to your many persons born under Leo. You are currently going through a hard period. October will be one of our most significant months of 1973. You are bright, attractive to opposite sex and have a tendency to be dominating.

in the suburban areas

With luck the Easter Bunny will not be besieged with rainstorms or snow flurries this weekend when he makes his yearly round to homes across America, laden with baskets of small gifts, dyed eggs, brightly colored glass, and candies. In spite of the weather conditions, however, we are very sure that almost every child will awake on Easter morning and discover that the Easter bunny had been there, and we would be willing to wager that during the weekend there will be plenty of enthusiasm for even the most difficult Easter Egg hunts.

Although Easter is only a few days away, it is still impossible to definitely say who will be arriving in, and leaving Lincoln for, the holiday weekend. So this morning we will be discussing the most recent happenings in our suburban areas.

It often is surprising that so many residents of the suburban neighborhoods have friends and relatives who make their homes in Beatrice — and, considering that fact, it is no wonder that many suburban dwellers are well acquainted with the Southeast Nebraska town and the highway which joins this town with that town.

Come Easter Sunday, with all of its planned festivities, several Lincoln families will take to the highways and byways — and among them will be those who are determined to share their Easter feasts with relatives in Beatrice. For example, Mr.

and Mrs. William A. Sonderegger of Eastridge plan to spend the holiday in Beatrice, where they will be the dinner guests of Mr. Sonderegger's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wright, and their children.

Accompanying their parents on the brief journey will be Julie and Ted, as well as Ted's fiancée, Miss Mary Ann Sues.

However, there are other special occasions which have been celebrated in the neighboring community of Beatrice — and one such festivity took place last weekend when Dr. and Mrs. Edward Rack of Trendwood were in Beatrice to help Mrs. Rack's brother celebrate his birthday.

Joining in the family observance out on the town were, in addition to the guest of honor, William Kitt, Mrs. Kitt, and Mrs. Rack's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Brown, who also are Lincoln residents.

Fashion News — For Men

ANNE-MARIE SCHIRO
(c) New York Times Service

New York — When Ralph Lauren presented his polo collection for men, he was wearing a pinstriped black suit, a white shirt and a black tie. How long has it been since designers dressed that way?

It kind of reminds you of Douglas Fairbanks. And that's exactly what Lauren has in mind. The words he uses to describe his fall collection are "dapper," "neat" and "traditional."

All those words apply to a double-breasted gray flannel suit with matching vest ("because double-breasted jackets usually don't look good when they're open"). The suit is shown with a white shirt, a pin-dotted tie and even a white handkerchief in the pocket, but there's nothing stodgy about the total effect. Bone buttons update the look, and so do the brown suede shoes — part of Lauren's first collection of shoes.

What really embodies the spirit of 'polo '73' is an outfit Lauren calls the "Vanderbilt." The jacket, in Donegal tweed, has a back belt and bellows pockets. It's worn over a matching vest, with white flannel trousers. There's even a collarpin on the shirt. You just know that the gentleman wearing it belongs to a private club and drives a Rolls-Royce (or at least wants to give that impression).

For his less traditional customers, the 33-year-old designer presents such ideas as an unconstructed shirt-jacket and pants, plaid flannel suits, an English riding coat in glove leather, and a shearling aviator jacket.

For his total untraditional customers, there's a "formal" outfit consisting of black trousers, a white pique vest, a striped shirt and a knitted black sweater-jacket.

The polo collection, with suits from $175 to $265 and sport jackets from $70 to $150, will be at Bloomingdale's beginning in August.

The shoes, made in England of saddle leather and smooth suede, will be $35 to $60. Styles include crepe soles, gilles, tasseled loafers, medallion-tips and a jodhpur boot. For the Vanderbilt who has everything, there's even a leather slip-on with a gold buckle for monogramming.

Blue Bird Easter Party

The first grade Blue Bird group at Ruth Pyrtle School — a group self-named the Beautiful Blue Birds — was entertained at an Easter party held at the home of Mrs. David Joy, assistant leader, on Wednesday afternoon, April 18.

During the after-school party, the group of 11 youngsters participated in an Easter egg hunt and games which followed the holiday theme.

Mrs. Michael Matsukis is the group leader.

MISS LOTTE ENDRES

This morning the engagement of Miss Lotte Endres, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Johann Endres of Wurzburg, West Germany, to Verdon Wegner, son of Mrs. Edmund Wegner of Wisner, and the late Mr. Wegner, is announced.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, Aug. 18. Miss Endres is a graduate of the Lincoln Technical College and now is careering as an instructor at Ben Your Hairdresser School of Beauty.

MISS CATHRYN KYE

Announcement is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Kye of the engagement of their daughter, Cathryn Ann, to Gary Lee Deubelbeiss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Deubelbeiss.

The wedding will take place on Saturday, Oct. 13.

Mr. Deubelbeiss is serving with the United States Air Force and now is stationed at Sheppard Field, Texas.

BOOKS— "Nobel Lecture"

By CYNTHIA JOHNSON

In 1970, Russian novelist Alexander Solzhenitsyn whose works include "Cancer Ward," "One Day In The Life Of Ivan Denisovich," and the recently-published "August 1914" — was awarded the coveted Nobel Prize for Literature. As a result of pressure from the Soviet government, he has been prevented from going to Stockholm to receive the award.

However, his Nobel Lecture, which was released late last year in Sweden, is now available in book form. Published by Farrar, Straus & Giroux in both clothbound and paperback editions, it has been translated by F. D. Reeve, American poet, novelist and critic; and the original Russian text is included along with the English.

In the lecture, Solzhenitsyn has chosen to elaborate on Dostoevsky's prophecy that "Beauty will save the world" — save it from the violence, greed, and human suffering that Solzhenitsyn believes has engulfed mankind in the 20th century.

He bases his acceptance of Dostoevsky's statement on a number of things — among them, the artist's inherent capacity to see and feel things more deeply than most individuals. "The task of the artist is to sense more keenly than others the harmony of the world, the beauty and the outrage of what man has done to it, and poignantly to let people know." In addition, he refers to the transcendent qualities of art — both with regard to rationality ("By means of art we are sometimes sent — dimly, briefly — revelations unattainable by reason") and national boundaries — that can serve to bind together the aggregate experiences of all men, thus making them more tolerant, more humane.

Beyond these considerations, art (and, more especially, writing) may serve even more specific purposes in the world that Solzhenitsyn envisions. In a passage that seems especially relevant to Solzhenitsyn's own experience, he defines writing as a teacher which may act to warn the rest of the world against repeating the disastrous follies of other nations. He indicts those who, in the name of whatever party they may serve, would repeat "our discredited Russian lessons of the nineteenth century," and who would take for their example the "Chinese Red Guard's degradation of people into non-entities." For these people, and for those who sanction their actions, Solzhenitsyn exhibits only the utmost scorn:

"A superficial lack of understanding of the timeless essence of humanity, a naive smugness on the part of their inexperienced hearts — 'We'll kick out those fierce, greedy oppressors, those governors, and the rest . . . we'll then lay down our grenades and machine guns, and become just and compassionate.' Oh, of course! Of those who have lived their lives and have come to understand, who could refute the young, many do not dare argue against them; on the contrary, they flatter them in order not to seem 'conservative.' . . ."

By virtue of its ability to transmit values and experiences from one generation to the next, literature also serves as a nation's "living memory," and, as such, Solzhenitsyn believes that writing cannot be censored without endangering a country's essential unity and spirit.

Finally, art can provide mankind with universal conceptions of good and justice at a time when these terms appear to have been stripped of all meaning by the aggressive actions of governments that seek to shape the lives of others on the basis of their own parochial ideas.

The writer then, is left with a terrible responsibility. He must utilize his art in such a way that the aforementioned goals will be realized. And, for Solzhenitsyn, this means that the writer must continue to pursue his preordained calling without regard to the lies and harassment visited upon him by political (or any other) authorities.

It is a responsibility that Solzhenitsyn has accepted unflinchingly, even joyously; and — in keeping with Dostoevsky's prediction — it is difficult to imagine that the world is not the better for his sacrifices.

Dance Festival Is Planned

The 33rd annual Square and Round Dance Festival, sponsored by the Lincoln Council of Square and Round Dance Clubs, will be held at Pershing Auditorium on Saturday, May 5.

Directors for the gala event are Mr. and Mrs. Erich Hartmann — and they have announced that special features of the festival will be appearances by Vaughn Parrish, the square dance caller from Boulder, Colo., and Mr. and Mrs. Glen McLeod, rounds instructors from Des Moines, Iowa.

The afternoon session will take place between the hours of 2 and 4:30 o'clock, and the Grand March, introducing the evening session, will begin at 8 o'clock.

Committee chairmen for the annual extravaganza include Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hruska, after-party buffet; Mr. and Mrs. Dean Weimers, auditorium; Mr. and Mrs. John Estes, courtesy and hospitality; Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Sherman, decorations; Mr. and Mrs. Willard Noxon, publicity; Mr. and Mrs. Dale DeShon, style show; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard

Phillips, souvenir program; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Wright, advertising; and Mr. and Mrs. Stan

Hatcher, tickets.

Spectator tickets are available to the general public.

ABBY: he must tell the IRS

Dear Abby: My husband owns a very successful business. He is a devoted, faithful husband and a wonderful father. All my friends think I'm the luckiest woman in the world. I would be, if it weren't for the fact that I am terrified that my husband will go to prison for income tax evasion.

He hasn't paid any taxes in six years. At first he really didn't have the money at tax time. The next year he put off filing until it was too late. The third year he didn't need an excuse. Now he says he knows plenty of others who don't pay any taxes, so why should he?

I have talked to him until I'm blue in the face. Now he refuses to even discuss it.

Abby, I'm worried sick that with the new computer system they will soon catch up with him. What can I do?

JANE DOE

Dear Jane: If you can't talk some sense into his head, confide in your lawyer and ask him to. If he 'fesses up, the penalty will be considerably lighter than if the feds catch him.

Dear Abby: Listen to this. A friend of mine is pregnant and some of her friends are getting together to give her a baby shower. This woman is 44 years old, soon to be 45, and she has six children and is a grandmother to boot. (Her oldest is 23 and her youngest is 12). I say it's ridiculous to give a shower for a woman this age. Some of my friends disagree with me. What do you say?

A FRIEND

Dear Friend: I see nothing ridiculous about it. On the contrary, I can't think of anyone who could use the lift more.

Dear Abby: The letter about "Jane," who was convinced that she should take care of her elderly father has haunted me.

I am 60, and God forbid that any of my children should ever have to "take care" of me. I want my children to remember me as a strong person who is capable of taking care of himself. I never want to live with any of my children. It would present all kinds of problems and I'd feel guilty.

Just give me a room in a good clean nursing home where I can have my own corner, forget responsibility and can be served without feeling that I'm imposing. I don't want to worry about illnesses, family quarrels, or the grandchildren's grades. I've been through all that. Give me peace.

Don't forget me, tho. Call and write now and then. And invite me for Sunday dinner occasionally. Let me entertain you in my room. But please, don't try to "take care" of me. Let me retain some dignity in my old age.

GETTING THERE

Dear Abby: You goofed when you referred to the marriage of the 40-year-old nurse to a 22-year-old man as a "May-December" marriage. It's scarcely September for us gals in our forties.

ALSO THERE IN CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 89706, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Q. HELP! I have stretch marks all over my breasts and stomach from childbirth. I want to be able to wear a bikini this summer, but I am afraid I will look awful. At present I am applying a capsule of vitamin E to the marks every day but am not getting results. I am not overweight and I eat correctly.

A. I honestly do not know how you can banish stretch marks. They are due to the extreme stretching of the skin. They will fade and become less noticeable in time. Also, you can cover them with a waterproof makeup.

You did not say how long you have used vitamin E on them, but I fear it will not help. However it will not hurt to try it. There has been some evidence that vitamin E speeds healing.

Q. I need help and fast. Every time I wash my hair a big glob of it just falls out. I use a good shampoo, a cream rinse and a conditioner. I know I am healthy because I eat right and get enough sleep. I am really worried. I have no idea what the problem could be. If you have any solution please tell me in the paper.

A. A certain amount of hair loss daily is normal, but if the condition is really as extreme as you describe it, I think you should see your family physician immediately to rule out any physical abnormality. If the result is negative, I suggest that you consult a dermatologist.

Q. I have a booklet of your 9 Day Diet, which I go on whenever I put on a few pounds. I haven't seen mention of it in your column for ages. I lose from 5 to 10 pounds in nine days. What I am getting at is, I'd like to have a new one. I don't know just how to go about it. Can I still get it? Please put something in your column about how to get it.

A. Send 10 cents and an eight-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to me in care of this newspaper.

Opening lead — king of spades.
Most books on play carry at least one chapter on the mathematics of bridge. They list how suits can be expected to divide, when to finesse, how to deal with certain card combinations, when to bid a game or a slam, and similar problems. One specific situation often dealt with is the question of whether or not to finesse when you have ten cards of a suit, missing the K-x-x. This was precisely South's problem in today's hand.

Mathematically, the percentage play is to finesse rather than try to drop the singleton king behind the ace. Expressed otherwise, this means that — if you experimented thousands of times with this combination — the finesse would succeed more often than the play for the drop.

Today's South was familiar with the proper percentage play, but he nonetheless managed to spear East's king. After West led the king of spades and shifted to the deuce of clubs, South played dummy's king, which held the trick.

Then, without bothering to come to his hand, declarer played the ace of trumps, catching a gratifyingly huge fish. As a result, South made six hearts. Had he finessed, he would have gone down one in four.

Declarer had a first-rate reason for rejecting the finesse. West could scarcely have the king of hearts after his first plays had revealed the A-K of spades and ace of clubs as part of his hand. It was inconceivable that he would have passed originally had he also held the king of hearts.

Since it followed that East had the king, South's only chance was to find the monarch unguarded. This possibility was by no means remote, since only three hearts were missing altogether, and in the actual case the possibility matured.

FOOD

it's new, easy, delicious

Perhaps everything that is new on the market these days achieves success. But we can say with all honesty that the brand new Stove Top Stuffing Mix bids fair to be overwhelmingly popular. And why not? It is easy to do since there are no problems, no long process and more than that — it is delicious.

If you never had tried this new and delectable mix, start with this recipe for Chicken Rolls a la Russe. You'll love it.

CHICKEN ROLLS A LA RUSSE

1 package (6 oz.) chicken flavor stuffing mix
6 boned whole chicken breasts, halved and pounded about 1/4-inch thick

1 egg, beaten
Shortening or salad oil for frying

Finely crush 1 cup of the stuffing crumbs; set aside. Prepare stuffing mix as directed on package using remaining crumbs and reducing water to 1 1/2 cups. Spread each chicken piece with stuffing, dividing mixture evenly. Roll up and tuck in ends. Dip rolls in egg, then in reserved crumbs. Fry in hot shallow oil in large skillet until golden brown — about 15 minutes, turning once. Makes 6 servings.

Note: Coated chicken rolls may be refrigerated and then fried shortly before serving.

Having A Brunch?

You won't hear any complaints about using leftovers if you place this delectable Egg-Filled Brunch Bread on the family table.

Prepared in a sculptured 12-cup Shape-Cake Pan to give it that old world look, the brunch bread is filled with diced ham, mushrooms and pimientos plus 4 whole eggs baked inside. Serve it hot with butter or margarine, fresh fruit, and coffee or milk.

EGG-FILLED BRUNCH BREAD

(12-16 Servings)

1 cup butter or margarine
1 1/2-ounce can mushroom steams and pieces, drained
1 cup chopped cooked ham, turkey, or chicken
1 1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 4-ounce jar sliced pimientos, drained
3 1/4 cups sifted flour
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup grated natural cheddar cheese
1 1/2 cups finely rolled buttery cracker crumbs
8 eggs
1/4 cup milk

In small skillet, place 1/4 cup butter. Melt over medium-low heat, then add mushrooms and ham, turkey or chicken. Saute for two or three minutes. Remove from heat.

Add 1/4 teaspoon salt, pepper, parsley, and pimientos. Stir and set aside.

In large mixing bowl, sift together flour, baking powder, and remaining 1 teaspoon salt. Add remaining 1/4 cup of butter. Combine with pastry fork or pastry blender until mixture is mealy and resembles fine bread crumbs.

In small mixing bowl, beat four eggs lightly. Make a hollow in center of dry ingredients. Add beaten eggs and milk. Stir until just combined; do not overmix.

Grease Shape-Cake Pan generously with two tablespoons solid shortening. Spread half the batter in bottom of pan. Hollow out center of batter by running a wide spatula around the circle. Sprinkle with half the mushroom-meat mixture. Break four remaining eggs into hollow. Cover with remaining cracker crumbs and mushroom-meat mixture. Spoon batter over, spread gently, completely covering underneath layers.

Bake in preheated 350° degree oven for 1 to 1 1/4 hours. Cook in pan on rack for 10 minutes. Invert onto platter and cook 15 minutes before serving.

Secretaries Week

"A secretary shall be defined as an executive assistant who possesses a mastery of office skills, who demonstrated the ability to assume responsibility without direct supervision, who exercises initiative and judgment, and who makes decisions within the scope of assigned authority."

That definition is provided by the National Secretaries Association (International) which will sponsor its 22nd annual Secretaries Week, to be observed nationally during the week of April 22-28.

"Better Secretaries Mean Better Business" has been selected as the theme for the week of recognition which will be highlighted by National Secretaries Day, scheduled to be observed on Wednesday, April 25.

Activities that week will be coordinated locally by the Cornhusker Chapter of NSA.

Mrs. Bernie Ward, CPS, president of the local chapter, announced the schedule of events will include the signing of proclamations both by Gov. J. James Exon and Lincoln Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf, as well as a special display which will be housed in the lobby of the First National Bank.

In addition, all secretaries throughout the city will be entertained at a hospitality hour which will be hosted by the members of the Cornhusker Chapter at the Legionnaire Club at 4 30 o'clock in the afternoon on Monday, April 23. During that social event, Miss Sharon Anderson, a Lincoln High School student, will be awarded the chapter's annual scholarship.

On Wednesday evening, April 25, the local NSA members will entertain their bosses at an Executive Night dinner which will be held at the Nebraska Club.

Mrs. Ward added that all secretaries should participate in the week-long festivities and in "emphasizing the vital contribution they make as part of the management team in business, industry, education, government, and the professions."

Bananas Make Wonderful Desserts

The famous Banana Cream Pie has two delectable cousins, not as well known but well worth the making. They are Banana Coconut Chiffon Pie and Banana Custard Pie which is topped with an airy, light meringue. The Banana Coconut Chiffon Pie has the fine touch of grated fresh coconut.

BANANA COCONUT CHIFFON PIE

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
1/4 cup cold water
3 eggs, separated
1 cup mashed ripe bananas (3 medium)
1/3 cup sugar

1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup heavy cream
1/3 cup finely grated fresh coconut
1 baked 9-inch pastry shell
Softened gelatine in cold water. Slightly beat egg yolks in top of double boiler; stir in bananas, sugar and salt. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened. Remove from heat. Add softened gelatine and stir until dissolved. Chill until mixture is slightly thickened. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry.

Add salt to egg whites and beat until foamy. Gradually beat in sugar and continue beating until stiff. Beat in vanilla.

Try bananas in a soufflé. Besides the two delightful pies for which the recipes are given, there is a gourmet Hot Banana Soufflé. Hot soufflés are elegant creations but they need no intimidate the cook. The only caution is that, as the French say, the guests must wait for the soufflé rather than the other way around, or the soufflé may fall.

The making of a soufflé is not that difficult, so if you merely observe the precaution that everybody be ready to eat it as soon as it comes from the oven, you should have no problem.

HOT BANANA SOUFFLE

1 1/2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
1/3 cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon grated fresh lemon rind
3/4 cup milk
3 eggs, separated
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
Whipped cream
Peel and slice bananas; toss slices with lemon juice. Combine sugar, cornstarch, salt, nutmeg and lemon rind in a saucepan. Add milk and mix well. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add a little of the hot mixture to beaten egg yolks. Then mix it with remaining hot mixture. Stir in butter or margarine and sliced bananas. Beat egg whites until they stand in soft peaks. Fold in along with vanilla. Turn into a 1 1/2-quart ungreased soufflé dish. Place dish in a pan of hot water. Bake in 350 degree F. oven about 1 hour or until firm. Serve immediately with whipped cream. MAKES: 6 servings.

NU To Grow As Other Schools Shrink

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Higher Education Facilities Commission said Wednesday its enrollment projections through 1976 indicate the University of Nebraska will continue to grow "at the expense of the State College system and the private institutional sector."

"The largest growth potential in the public system is at the University of Nebraska at Omaha," said Michael Winterhalter, commission executive director.

Winterhalter also said "junior college enrollments do not show the expected movement of students into the traditional four-year schools."

"Little Change"
"Quite the contrary, little if any real change is shown" in that sector, he said.

"Probably the most significant trend is that while senior high enrollments are slightly increasing for the next seven years, the forecasted state post-secondary traditional enrollments will continue to decline," said Winterhalter.

Wednesday's report was the last of four reports from the commission, which has been studying future higher education enrollments in the state.

Continue Down
Charts showing the anticipated trends, based on an historical projection method, indicate that the enrollment in the traditional two- and four-year academic institutions will continue its downward movement.

The statewide enrollment peaked at more than 66,000 in 1970 and has declined in the past two years. By 1976, the report indicates, the enrollment will drop below 61,000.

No Smoking Areas Set By All Radisson Hotels

The rights of nonsmokers are now being considered by the Radisson Hotel Corp., it was announced Wednesday. In cooperation with the Respiratory Disease Association, Radisson Hotels will set aside special areas for nonsmokers in banquets and conventions.

Beginning May 1, all gatherings of 25 persons or more will have reserved space marked by signs, according to Jorgon Viltoft, president of the

At the same time, however, the University of Nebraska will continue to grow.

Winterhalter said the report shows NU enrollment on all campuses will be more than 37,000 by 1976, an increase of about 2,000 students from last fall.

The State College system, where enrollment has dropped from more than 12,000 to 10,500 since 1969, will experience a continuing decrease to about 9,000 in four years.

"First Time"
"This is the first time in any state that such a report has been prepared, based on a total set of working enrollment models — models that have developed statistical reliability," said

Winterhalter.

Winterhalter noted, however, that the models are based on historical information and thus "produce a projection of the future based upon what has happened" in the past.

The projections, he said, "assume there will be no major external effects," such as a large influx of nonresident students.

He suggested that the projections should be seen as a "tool in developing a plan for the future, not as a perfect method of prediction."

Winterhalter said he believes the report illustrates "the potential advantages of coordination and planning in higher education."

Oil Portrait Of Judge Delehant Hung In Court

An oil portrait of one of Nebraska's most renowned judges, former U.S. District Court Judge John W. Delehant, was hung Wednesday in U.S. District Court in Lincoln.

The painting was presented to the court by Judge Delehant's sons, John W. Jr., of Omaha, and Maurice, of San Francisco, and his widow, Loretta, of Omaha.

The painting, done in Italy, was done from a photograph by Townsend Studio of Lincoln. It shows Judge Delehant wearing his robe, seated, with one arm resting on a small table.

Western Electric Building Renovation Plan Revealed

After an absence of over 30 years, autos will once again be parked on the top five floors of the old Western Electric Building at 13th and Q — possibly by the 1973 football season, it was announced Wednesday.

Roger Sack, the president of the Superior Equity Corp., who purchased the property personally last fall, made the announcement at a press conference at which details were given for general renovation plans revealed last December.

The press conference also made it official that the timetable for renovation has been revised. It earlier had been announced that the renovation would be completed by early this summer.

Retail Tenants
In addition to remodeling for the parking levels, plans also call for renovation of the ground and lower levels for retail tenant space.

Architect James Haberlan of Haberlan and Associates of Lincoln revealed plans for malls on the retail levels.

He said the main mall on the ground floor would stretch from the southeast corner to the northwest corner of the building, with another lane stretching toward the southwest corner.

Circular Wells
The basic plan would be repeated on the lower level, however, the corridors would not be as long. A special feature would be three open circular wells in the ground floor surrounded by railings.

Beneath the wells, on the floor of the lower level, would be matching circular areas with plantings.

Plans for the parking garage provide for entrance ramps on Q St. and exit ramps on 13th St.

There will be room for approximately 165 cars on the five levels and there will be room for another 30 on the roof if tests show it can bear the load.

Parking stalls will be unusually spacious, about 10 feet wide, due to placement of the columns in the building.

Haberlan said the entire exterior of the building will be steam cleaned and retouched. Existing windows in the second through sixth stories will be replaced with recessed, plastic panels.

New Sidewalks
Haberlan said the sidewalks will also be replaced and will be decorated with plantings. He said the 13th St. walk may also be widened, continuing an extra-wide walk planned for the new National Bank of Commerce.

The total cost of the remodeling, according to Sack, is approximately $650,000. However, he said that all the necessary financing has not been lined up yet, and no tenants have signed.

He said that remodeling for the parking garage will proceed as rapidly as possible, but that a fall date for completion of the retail area might be "somewhat optimistic."

The Western Electric Buicks, has stood solidly ever since it passed through the hands of approximately six owners, one of whom went bankrupt, and various schemes for remodeling crumbled.

Sack said that elements in his decision to renovate included the extraordinary concentration of theaters in the area and the extraordinary economic health of the entire downtown area.

Plans Shows Lower Level Renovations

Architectural plan illustrates the southeast to northwest ground level mall, entrance and exit ramps for the 165-car public parking levels, and widened and landscaped sidewalks. Q St. is at bottom and 13th is on the left.

Computer Fails To Pay Mayor

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — All Rochester city employees got their latest pay check except one — Mayor Alex Smekta.

The mayor didn't receive his check for his first 15 days in office. The payroll computer, it later was explained, failed to "recognize" a number designated "the mayor." Smekta joked that he thought everyone had his number by now.

Dr. Ashton Plaque Dedicated At UNL

A plaque, honoring Dr. Dudley Ashton for her service to the University of Nebraska-Lincoln as chairman of the Department of Physical Education for Women, was dedicated Wednesday.

The ceremony took place in the lobby of the Women's Physical Education Building at 14th and Vine.

Dr. Ashton became chairman of the Department of Physical Education for Women in the N.U. Teachers College in 1952 and continued in that capacity until her retirement in 1971.

She was chairman when the department's new facilities were built and dedicated. She is credited with much of the planning that went into the building and for planning and supporting the department's dance and graduate programs.

The plaque honoring Dr. Ashton joins five others in the lobby of the building, which were placed there when the structure was dedicated in 1968. These plaques honor Anne Barr Clapp, founder of the department; Ina E. Gittings, a graduate of N.U. and pioneer in physical education for women; Marybeth Wallace Brown, a former student whose gifts helped equip the building; Mabel Lee, chairman of the department from 1924 to 1952, and former State Senator Fern Hubbard Orme, who led a drive in support of the new building.

Dr. Ashton currently lives in Louisville, Ky.

265 Western Electric Employees Suspended

Omaha (AP) — Because of a wildcat strike Tuesday, all 265 Western Electric Service Center employees in southwest Omaha have been suspended without pay until Monday.

Service Center manager William Farley said the company action was a direct result of the strike.

Both Farley and Vice President William Sent of the Communications Workers of America said the walkout resulted from workers being switched from their jobs at the repair shop to the company's warehouse.

Farley reported that the switch, which he said resulted from a work shortage, is specified in the contract and the procedure has prevented layoffs during the slack time.

Farley said the workers agreed to return to work Tuesday afternoon but company officials said no.

Of the switching practice, he said: "When it is good business, we do it."

Omaha Police Catch Up With Four Vandals

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Four teen-agers have been arrested in connection with a vandalism spree that left at least 57 cars damaged, police said.

Windows and mirrors on the cars were broken. The autos involved were parked over a wide area of central Omaha, authorities said.

Police said the four 17-year-old boys were arrested around 4:30 a.m. A patrolman stopped a car carrying the four youths after hearing a police radio broadcast that a dark-colored car with loud exhaust pipes was wanted in connection with auto vandalism. Police said they received the description of the car from several victims.

Police confiscated a tire iron and knife found in the car. There were two reports of cars overturned. Both were small foreign vehicles, police said.

Many of the victims told police more than one window had been smashed on their cars.

It Was Religious

Paris (UPI) — Francois Cardinal Marty, Roman Catholic archbishop of Paris, said the French church's condemnation of anti-Semitism and indirect recognition of Israel was meant to be a religious but not a political declaration.

Subject Of Discussion Makes Fire Chief Late

North Platte (AP) — North Platte fire chief Ace Backer was about 20 minutes late for a discussion with Lincoln County commissioners on how to reduce the number of train-caused fires. The reason: Backer's men and several volunteers were fighting a series of such blazes between North Platte and Maxwell.

Several small grass fires were apparently caused by passing trains.

Firemen were called to extinguish similar fires Saturday and early Monday morning.

State Fire Marshal Joe Pluta and a spokesman from the University of Nebraska Extension Forestry Division of Fire Control said they are meeting with county boards along railroad lines to develop a program which, it is hoped, would cut such fires by 50%.

Nothing Heard At Goodyear

Gordon Hein, acting personnel manager for Lincoln's Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. belting and hose plant, said Wednesday he has heard no details of progress in talks to renew a three-year master contract with the United Rubber Workers (URW).

Representatives from Goodyear and Lincoln URW Local 286 (AFL-CIO) are meeting in Cincinnati, Ohio, to negotiate a new contract before the present one expires at mid-night Friday.

Hein said "it's always possible" that an agreement will be reached before Friday, but added he believes "they'll go to the deadline regardless."

International URW officials had announced Monday if the contract deadline was not met, the union will strike Goodyear plants world-wide. Such a move would affect about 1,880 employees at the Lincoln plant.

Local union vice president Bob Wallen was not available Wednesday to comment if he had heard from union officials at the talks.

TOKYO (AP) — North Korea has adopted compulsory education for children up to age 16, the Korean Central News Agency said in a Tokyo-monitored broadcast.

$2,505 Earned For Easter Seal By 'Lily Days'

"Lily days" on the past two Saturdays in Lincoln brought in $2,505 for the Nebraska Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults, according to Gary Sherman, chairman of the Lancaster County Easter Seal Committee.

Dressed as rabbits, students from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, Nebraska Wesleyan University and 4-H groups offered paper lilies to shoppers in the downtown area and shopping centers.

Competition among fraternities, sororities and independent groups helped raise the number of contributions. UNL fraternity Beta Sigma Psi raised $373 and UNL sorority Alpha Chi Omega raised $696.

"We appreciate all the enthusiasm exhibited by the students. Their hard work and dedication to this annual event in Lincoln brings a lot of Easter Seal service to the handicapped of our area," Sherman said.

Oil Pipeline Wanted

Washington (UPI) — Acting Interior Secretary John C. Whitaker told Congress the administration was willing to accept almost any bill that would clear the way for immediate construction of the trans-Alaska oil pipeline.

400 Doctors Expected For NMA Annual Meet

Kearney (UPI) — More than 400 Nebraska physicians are expected to attend the 106th annual meeting of the Nebraska Medical Association here April 29 through May 2.

The convention will feature the election of officers, presentation of 50-year service pins to seven Nebraska physicians and symposiums on key medical issues.

Meeting May 1-2 will be the woman's auxiliary of the State Medical Association. The 48th annual meeting will feature as guest speaker Mrs. Wendell F. Roller, the north central regional vice president of the woman's auxiliary to the American Medical Association.

Stay Off Verandas

HONG KONG (AP) — The government recently gave these tips to diplomats on avoiding terrorist attacks: stay off verandas and balconies; check engines and trunks of cars before driving them; keep your back to a wall when waiting somewhere in public; when walking, be sure you are not followed, and vary the route when making a regular rendezvous.

Ex-Bank Head Pleads Guilty To 50 Counts

BOSTON (AP) — The former president of a Wakefield, Mass., bank which was liquidated last year pleaded guilty in U.S. District Court Wednesday to a variety of charges involving mis-use of more than $8 million at eight banks.
The two indictments - including 50 separate counts - to which Daniel G. Moore entered a plea before Judge Frank Freedman involve funds at his former bank - Surety Bank & Trust Co. - and at seven other banks in the United States and Switzerland, according to federal prosecutors. U.S. Atty. George V. Higgins said Moore could receive up to 240 years in prison.
Moore was indicted on charges of conspiracy, misappropriation of funds, embezzlement, issuing letters of credit without authority, illegally issuing loans and receiving kickbacks.

The Surety Bank of Wakefield was closed and liquidated by Massachusetts officials last May 18, making it the first bank to be shut in that state in 40 years.
A subsequent audit turned up $7 million in missing funds.

Christian Pilgrims Visiting Holy Land

JERUSALEM (AP) — Where did Christ die?

The rambling Crusader Church of the Holy Sepulchre deep inside the Old City's walls is revered by millions as the site of Calvary.

But a growing number of Christians also believe Jesus was crucified and entombed in a garden area a quarter of a mile to the north.

Christian pilgrims by the thousands will pray at both the church and the Garden Tomb this Easter Week.

The Garden Tomb has been winning more supporters because of its location — well outside Old Jerusalem's thick Turkish walls.

For the Scriptures are clear that Jesus was crucified outside the city. St. John continues: "Now in the place where He was crucified there was a garden, and in the garden a new tomb where no one had been laid... as the tomb was close at hand, they laid Jesus there."

The entire Garden Tomb concept appears to flaunt the 1,600-year-old Church of the Holy Sepulchre tradition.

The original idea to pin down the exact location of the crucifixion came from Emperor Constantine the Great at the Council of Nicaea in 325. He dispatched his mother, Empress Helena, to the Holy Land to see that his orders were followed.

The spot finally chosen — after it was disclosed in a vision to the Bishop of Jerusalem — was on the site of a pagan temple of Aphrodite built by Roman Emperor Hadrian 200 years earlier. It was on a hill called Golgotha, a name derived from the Hebrew for "skull."

Constantine's shrines were leveled by invading Moslems, but rebuilt by Crusader knights who reconquered Jerusalem in 1099.

The knights enclosed Calvary and the Tomb under one roof of the Sepulchre Church.

It is shared jointly by the Greek Orthodox, Roman Catholic and Eastern Rites churches. Damaged by an earthquake in 1927, it is still under repair.

Over the centuries a number of pilgrims have questioned the Holy Sepulchre-marked sites because the shrines were obviously inside, not outside, the city walls.

But it wasn't until the end of the last century that the Garden Tomb idea began to take hold, thanks to a campaign launched by British Gen. Charles Gordon, who visited Jerusalem en route home from his Chinese campaigns.

Gordon was convinced that 60-foot-high hill just north of Damascus Gate was the true Calvary. Two hollows in the face of the hill made it look like a skull — Golgotha, he said.

He began a campaign that eventually led to the establishment of the London-based, non-denominational Garden Tomb Association, which has jurisdiction over the site.

Warden Van der Hoeven, whose father is secretary to Queen Juliana, admitted he himself was "not 100 per cent sure the Garden Tomb was the true site of Calvary," although he felt it was. He added:

"It well could be, because it is a rock tomb typical of Herodian times."

The Tomb, a two-room cave, is surrounded by a lush and well-tended garden, filled with well-manicured shrubs, flowers and tall shade trees — described by one Easter visitor as a "true oasis of tranquility in bustling Arab Jerusalem."

"One lady told me she had not felt the presence of God in Jerusalem until she visited the Garden," the Rev. Mr. Van der Hoeven said.

The minister is not sure if the true location of the crucifixion will ever fully be established.

So far archaeologists and biblical scholars have made little progress.

The main unanswered question: Were the sites marked by the Church of the Holy Sepulchre in or outside the walls?

The shrine is now inside the walls built in the 16th century by Suleiman the Magnificent. But the spot actually was outside the Roman walls during Christ's time, Church supporters say.

"I want to spend the rest of my life here," says warden Van der Hoeven. "It's the best pulpit in the world."

Same Darvon At $1.90, $3.00 Or $4.25 Drug Prices Vary Greatly In Different Stores, Areas

NEW YORK (AP) — Darvon is a widely used pain killer. In Los Angeles, you can buy a specified amount of this prescription drug for $4.25. But in Miami, you can get the same dose of pain relief for $2.65.

Those are the prices charged in two average suburban or neighborhood drugstores, a country apart. The drugstore both buy their supplies for the same basic price.

Take another drug, Empirin, a high-volume item, and another city, Denver. In a cut-rate midtown pharmacy, the price is $1.42 for a specified amount. In a low-income area, the same amount is $3.65, in a neighborhood store, only $2.65.

Those Denver prices would seem to bear out the suspicion that pharmacies in low-income areas charge higher prices. But that isn't always so.

In Chicago, for example, the Darvon might cost $3 in a low-income neighborhood, higher than the $1.90 in a cut-rate midtown store but lower than the $3.90 in an average neighborhood store.

Even this, however, isn't the end of the variation. That $3 price in one low-income area Chicago store also compares with $1.95 in another low-income area store and $3.60 in still another low-income area store.

So, a crazy quilt of drugstore prices exists across the country for the same prescription item, in the same strength and quantity, as determined by a survey of at least three drugstores in each of a dozen cities by The Associated Press. Consumer reaction to the variation has reached at least one state legislature.

In each city, reporters checked a suburban or neighborhood pharmacy, a store in a low-income area and a cut-rate midtown store. In some cases, additional drugstores were sampled.

Why the varying scale? A spokesman for the National Association of Retail Druggists, in Chicago, said lawyers, doctors and merchandisers of other products also charge varying prices.

Willard Simmons, executive secretary of the National Association of Retail Druggists, said that some pharmacies maintain delivery systems and such services as charge accounts and are therefore entitled to charge more than a discount store that operates with small overhead.

Simmons also said that on a nationwide basis from 1960 to 1970, while the cost of other goods and services rose sharply, the average cost of prescription drugs dropped by 10 per cent.

Another spokesman for the Chicago-based association, which is made up of drugstore owners, observed that lawyers, doctors and merchandisers also charge varying prices.

But one representative of drug manufacturers, who did not wish to be identified, criticized the widely varying prices and pointed out that the big, reputable drug makers charge the same price to all customers across the country, including Hawaii and Alaska, despite varying freight charges.

The AP survey looked at the prices for three prescription items: Empirin compound No. 3 with codein, an order of 20; Darvon, 65 milligrams, an order of 24; and Gantarin, for urinary infections, a half gram, an order of 60.

Prescription drugs were chosen for the survey because common over-the-counter, non-prescription items show little price variation. Because there is little urgency in buying over-the-counter drugs, buyers often comparison shop.

When buying a prescription item, however, the customer is concerned usually with an illness and has little inclination to comparison shop.

Among the findings were that the total cost of the three drug items sampled was least in a suburban store in Honolulu, $5.80, and in Miami, $6.45, and highest in the Los Angeles suburb of Santa Ana, $12, and a Denver suburb, $12.10.

In other suburban or neighborhood stores, Seattle placed at $11.45 in total cost for the Darvon, Chicago at $11.25, Kansas City at $11.10 and New York City at $8.94.

One odd finding was that the total cost of the three drug items was higher, $8.31, in a Miami cut-rate store than in either the neighborhood store, $6.45, or the low-income area store, $5.62.

Such prescription drug price variations have prompted action in the New York State Legislature. One assemblyman, citing what he called retail markups ranging from 200 per cent to 2,000 per cent over wholesale costs, sponsored a bill that would require every pharmacy in the state to post a state list of the 150 most frequently ordered prescription items and the store's current retail prices.

The measure passed the lower House and was sent to the state Senate. The bill was one of a number of consumer protection measures proposed by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Zipper Fault Leads To Suit

NEW YORK (AP) — A Maryland manufacturer of trousers has sued a New York zipper manufacturer, charging the company's slide fasteners separated and left some customers embarrassedly unzipped.

I C Isaac and Co. asked U.S. District Court in Brooklyn for a $94,275 judgment against Lewis Weiner Industries Inc., including $50,000 for loss of good will.

Prices Listed

New York (AP) — Here are four tables listing the results of an Associated Press survey of drug prices in a dozen cities. The first three tables show the varying prices for three drugs — Gantarin, Darvon and Empirin. The fourth table shows what all three drugs would cost by city.

Within each city, the drug prices are further broken down by the prices in a suburban or neighborhood pharmacy, in a drugstore in a low-income area, and in a cut-rate midtown store.

THE PADDOCK

Different Setting

Omaha — For someone who made a career playing for the old established teams, Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion has adjusted quite well to a brand new operation.

"I just love it down there," said the coach of the National Hockey League's Atlanta Flames. "And one of the reasons I do is that the people don't know hockey very well, but they are so enthusiastic.

"We averaged 14,000 people (in the 15,078-seat Omni) and we sold out 17 games in our first year," he continued. "And next year, it's all sold out. And many of the people are seeing a hockey game for the first time."

Hockey is nothing new to Geoffrion, however. He played 16 seasons in the NHL, the majority with the Montreal Canadiens and finished his career with the New York Rangers.

Known for his ferocious slap shot, he tallied 393 goals to rank eighth on the NHL's all-time goal scoring chart. His determination and aggressiveness were trademarks while helping the Canadiens to five consecutive Stanley Cup Trophies in the late 1950s.

Difficult Position

In Omaha to watch the Omaha Knights in playoff action (Atlanta is the Knights' parent club), Geoffrion termed coaching as the toughest job in hockey.

"The player has to only take care of himself, while the coach has to take care of everyone," he noted. "It used to be there were only six teams (in the NHL), but now there are 16 and more coaches than ever want to get in the NHL."

Geoffrion, who has completed one year of a two-year Atlanta contract, previously coached the Rangers. But reoccurring ulcers forced him to resign that post — a move many observers felt would be the last fling in the big time for Boom Boom.

With an expansion club relying basically on rejects from the other NHL members and untried rookies, the Flames earned 65 points on 25 victories and 15 ties. Although they finished seventh in the eight-team East Division, the 65 points were more than were accumulated by the first-year New York Islanders (30) and the more established Toronto Maple Leafs (64), Vancouver Canucks (53) and California Golden Seals (48).

"The fans are just as rabid in Atlanta as they are in Montreal," he said. "Maybe they boo us once in 39 games but they're allowed to do it. When the players step on the ice they're supposed to give their best and, if they don't, then the fans deserve to boo.

"But the fans gave me a great ovation when I returned to the Forum (Montreal's ancient arena) with Atlanta," he said, adding that the Flames tied the Canadiens twice at the Forum.

Praising Omaha general manager-coach Fred Creighton for his efforts in getting the Knights into the Central Hockey League championship series, Geoffrion said defenseman Dwight Bialowas and Jean Lemieux and forward Don Martineau have, perhaps, the best chance of the current Knight's to make the jump to Atlanta.

"I've only been here a couple of times so I really haven't watched them that closely," he said. "But as far as if they improve, it's not up to me, it's up to them. I can only show them what to do and it's up to them to do it.

"He (Creighton) has done a great job getting them this far," Geoffrion said. "Omaha has always been a good hockey town."

Rodgers Gets Work Release

Heisman trophy winner Johnny Rodgers will be working as a spring practice assistant with the University of Nebraska football team during his work release program from Lincoln City Jail, it has been learned.

A formal petition granting work release for Rodgers who was sentenced to 30 days for driving on a suspended license was signed late Wednesday morning by Lancaster District Judge Herbert Ronin.

The presiding district judge had said earlier he would grant work release if the petition seeking release specifically stated where Rodgers would work and what hours he would be allowed to leave the jail.

The agreement comes after Rodgers had already spent nine days in city jail and after failure to convince Boys Town in Omaha to accept him. It was also learned that Boys Clubs of Omaha had offered to employ the former collegiate star.

An apparent problem in Rodgers' work release hopes was the reported reluctance of the Douglas County Sheriff's Office in accepting Rodgers as an inmate.

Spring practice sessions for the two-time National Champion Cornhuskers are held Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 3-5 p.m. and Saturdays from 1:30 p.m.-4 p.m.

Cornhusker coaches employ what are termed "graduate assistants" — about 10 of them — to help out in spring practice. Among them are Rich Glover, Larry Jacobsen and Jerry Murtaugh.

State statutes provide work release for anyone sentenced on a misdemeanor for the purpose of seeking employment, working

Michael Resigns, Quarterback Ineligible

Compiled From News Wires

Norman, Okla. — In the wake of a Big Eight investigation into football recruiting violations, the University of Oklahoma disclosed Wednesday it was forfeiting nine of the 12 games the No. 2-ranked Sooners played last season including the Sugar Bowl victory over Penn State.

In addition, Oklahoma officials revealed that Kerry Jackson, the No. 1 quarterback of the Sooners' spring drills, would be declared ineligible for next season and that offensive line coach Bill Michael had resigned.

The forfeiture and resignation came after conference officials verified that the transcripts of Jackson and Mike Phillips, both from Ball High School in Galveston, Tex., had been tampered with, Oklahoma Athletic Director Wade Walker said.

The nine games Oklahoma said it was forfeiting were wins over Utah State, 49-0, Oregon 68-3, Clemson 52-3, Texas 27-0, Missouri 17-6, Kansas 31-7, and Oklahoma State 38-15 and Penn State in the Sugar Bowl 14-0 and a 20-14 loss to Colorado.

The forfeitures would change Oklahoma's record from 11-1 overall and 6-1 in the Big Eight to 3-9 and 3-4, thus moving Nebraska at 5-1-1 to the top of the Big Eight standings, but there was no immediate word on whether or not Nebraska would be awarded the Big Eight championship.

Oklahoma defeated Nebraska 17-14 on Thanksgiving Day in Lincoln.

"If they want to give us the championship, we'll accept it," Bob Devaney, then the Husker head coach and now the NU athletic director said. "But that's not like winning it on the field."

Joe Blahak, an all-Big Eight defensive back for the Huskers last year, responding to a question as to how he felt about the possibility of Nebraska being awarded the title, said, "Hell, they still beat us."

Nor was Penn State coach Joe Paterno inclined to think of the forfeiture as a Sugar Bowl victory for his Nittany Lions.

"Both our players and the Oklahoma players know who won that game," he offered.

Paterno Blasts NCAA

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI) — Head football coach Joe Paterno of Penn State, whose Sugar Bowl loss to Oklahoma apparently was reversed by the Sooners' recruiting scandal, said Wednesday that improper rules enforcement by the NCAA contributed to "another embarrassing situation for intercollegiate athletics."

Speaking moments after Oklahoma forfeited eight of last year's 11 victories because of recruiting violations involving freshmen, both Paterno and Athletic Director Edward M. Czekaj said the forfeitures could never change the Sooners' 14-0 Sugar Bowl victory.

"Perhaps the irony is that, if freshmen were not allowed to participate, the recruiting irregularity would have come to light before their participation caused another embarrassing situation for intercollegiate athletics," said Paterno, originally an opponent to the NCAA's freshman eligibility rule.

"This might be an appropriate time to again appeal to the National Collegiate Athletic Association governing bodies to get proper enforcement of our rules," Paterno said. He added that it was "a shame that a great effort by an Oklahoma football team has to be marred by an inexcusable recruiting violation such as this incident."

"However, irrespective of what action Oklahoma or the Sugar Bowl would take in regard to the forfeit, our players and the Oklahoma players know who won the game," the coach said. "The Sugar Bowl was decided on the field of play," said Czekaj, "and regardless of this regrettable incident, the result of the game itself is unchanged."

Grand Island — Montello, a 25-1 longshot who's best finish was fourth to Wild Wink on March 9 this year, won the seventh race at Fanner Park here Wednesday.

The dark brown gelding by Skalkaho out of Miss Silkwood defeated Queen Marie and Soft Melody out of a field of five to return $50.20, $10.80 and $4.30 to backers in the crowd of 3,618.

Queen Marie finished second to return $5.40 and $3.40 while Soft Melody showed for $3.20.

The eighth race was canceled on the card when the starting gate malfunctioned and only one horse was able to break at the start.

The race was officially declared "no contest" and all wagers returned to bettors.

Kenneth Jones rode three winners on the shortened card, piloting Valley Cadet in the third, Merino in the fifth and Harmony Road in the ninth.

Chuck Neinas, Big Eight commissioner, told Oklahoma faculty representative David Swank about the investigation on April 11. The next day Ken Jones, a conference official, went to Galveston and reported that the transcripts had been altered. Neinas and Jones met with Oklahoma officials on April 13 and interviewed the two students.

Switzer talked with Michaels about the report on Saturday and Sunday and Michael resigned late Monday.

Dr. Paul Sharp, university president, said in a prepared statement that "to the best of our knowledge, neither Kerry Jackson nor Mike Phillips was aware that their transcripts had been tampered with, and therefore are presumed innocent of any wrongdoing."

Sharp said he had also been assured by Switzer that no other member of the football staff was involved in the activity now under investigation.

Asked if former head coach Chuck Fairbanks, now general manager and coach of the professional New England Patriots, had any knowledge of the transcript tampering, Walker said: "I can't answer that. I do not know."

The loss of Jackson is a severe blow for the Sooners. The No. 2 quarterback on the varsity last year as a freshman, Jackson was the sixth leading rusher on the squad with 308 yards and completed 11 of 38 passes for 144 yards.

Switzer said he informed Jackson Monday that something terrible had happened that would cause his ineligibility next season.

"You know what the kid did," asked Switzer. "He just sat there and he didn't say a thing. Then I told him coach Michael had resigned and he sat there and cried."

Asked what effect the loss of Jackson would have on the team, Switzer said, "We're competitors and winners and we have to rise to this challenge."

He said he would encourage Jackson and Phillips, a linebacker and center on last year's freshman team, to "stay and seek an education and later perform as athletes."

Husker Injury List Mounts

By HAL BROWN

Star Sports Editor

Nebraska's spring football injury list continued to grow Wednesday as new coach Tom Osborne sent his Huskers through another scrimmage session.

The latest injury victim was I-back Jeff Moran, a 6-0, 198-pound junior from Huron, S. D., who was battling with Dave Goeller and Tony Davis for the No. 1 spot.

Moran suffered torn knee ligaments and trainer Paul Schneider said the running back was through for the rest of spring drills.

"We don't know if it will require surgery, but that's a possibility," Schneider said. "It doesn't need surgery, it will still have to be put in a cast."

With a number of Husker gridders sidelined with injuries and with many others having bumps and bruises, Osborne set back a make-up workout for one week.

Because of a late start this spring, the Huskers have to squeeze in two extra practice days before the May 5 finale. One was made up last Thursday and Osborne had hoped to make up the other Thursday. However, he said Wednesday that he had postponed that for one week.

"We've got a lot of bumps."

Osborne said. "We've been scrimmaging almost every day."

While indicating that he might begin cutting back on the scrimmage work, the Husker boss added, "The spring is the time to hit."

"There are some things you can learn only by scrimmaging. You can block a dummy all day, but blocking a dummy isn't like trying to block John Dutton. And form tackling isn't like trying to tackle Tony Davis."

With Moran out for the spring, freshman sensation John O'Leary moves higher in the NU picture with Goeller also having been sidelined for the past few sessions.

However, Osborne said he expected Goeller back in pads by Friday.

The Nebraska depth chart also underwent some changes Wednesday with Rich Bonness, a 6-4, 205-pound sophomore from Bellevue, moving into the No. 1 center spot ahead of Rich Duda as the only change involving the No. 1 units.

In a position switch, Tim Lackovic, a 6-0, 189-pound Omaha junior, moving from split end to wingback and Dave Shamblin, a 6-2, 187-pound sophomore from Laverne, Calif., moving back to split end after a try at wingback.

Linebacker Mal Stoutamire, a 6-3, 238-pound transfer from Ohio State, who came to Nebraska a year ago and had one year of eligibility remaining, has quit the NU squad.

Visitors at Wednesday's NU practice session included Nebraska Gov. J. J. Exon and NU President D. B. Varner.

Oklahoma 'Horse' Bill Headed Down Stretch

Oklahoma City (AP) — A bill to legalize pari-mutuel betting on horse racing in Oklahoma headed down the home stretch in the House Wednesday.

The House Ways and Means Committee voted Tuesday, 4-1, to send the measure, passed earlier by the Senate, to the House floor with a "do pass" recommendation.

The committee, normally considered the burial ground for measures not supported by House leadership, approved a "do pass" recommendation after less than an hour's hearing.

Ross McLennan, executive director of Sooner Alcohol Narcotics Education SANE, appeared in opposition to the measure, as he has in previous hearings before other Senate and House groups.

He told the Ways and Means Committee that pari-mutuel betting on horse racing would be the "finest thing" the legislature could do for organized crime.

Rep. Fred Boettcher, D-Ponca City, House author of the pari-mutuel bill, said he was backing it as a reasonable alternative to an initiative petition now being circulated.

Both proposals would require a vote of Oklahoma citizens before pari-mutuel betting would be legal.

The bill before the legislature would create a seven-member Racing Commission, to be appointed by the governor with consent of the Senate.

The initiative petition proposes a self-perpetuating Racing Commission headed by the secretary of state. The other four members are named in the petition and they would have the power to perpetuate themselves in office indefinitely.

The legislative measure also would provide for county option on pari-mutuel betting and would permit betting on horse races only under auspices of a state or county fair board. The petition proposal would allow pari-mutuel betting statewide.

LHS Reserves Win Meet Title

Lincoln High reserves won a track meet over the three other Lincoln public high school teams Wednesday afternoon at Lincoln Northeast's track by scoring 80 points.

Lincoln Northeast was next with 70. Lincoln Southeast was third with 39 and Lincoln East had 29. The Rockets' Mike Vavarka won the 100, 220 and anchored the winning 880 relay team, while the Knights' Scott Tallman won both the high and low hurdles.

Thursday's Games

Royal Knight Set For Race

Grand Island — Ken Opstein's Royal Knight arrived in Grand Island this week for Saturday's seventh renewal of the $7,500-added Nebraska Derby.

The bay son of Bold Lad was shipped by his trainer Monti Sims from Gulfstream Park at Hialeah, Fla.

Royal Knight comes by his name naturally since his dam Sherry 2nd was once owned by Queen Elizabeth of England. She was sold by the royal family to George F. Getty Opstein purchased Sherry 2nd with Royal Knight at her side.

The Opstein colt has only started nine times in his career. Royal Knight's 2-year-old campaign produced one win, two seconds, and a third in six starts. The lone victory came in an impressive five-length triumph over Indian Bella, and Imbroson at Ak-Sar-Ben.

Royal Knight has started three times this year in Florida, twice at Gulfstream and once at Hialeah. His best effort came in his first start at Gulfstream when he finished fourth to Shane's Prince, Imperator, and Company Jester.

The millionaire insurance executive has had a horse eligible to the Nebraska Derby each year since he won an early edition of the stake with Two Bobbs Opstein saw Excellor finish second to City Visitor in the 1972 renewal of the 3-year-old fixture.

Barton H. Ford's Scurry Home and Paul M. Kernling's Native Record head the local representatives named to the stake. Ford won the Nebraska Derby last year with City Visitor.

Other 3-year-olds who will most likely be nominated to the Nebraska Derby are Loyal Beavers' and I.E. McShane's Sunny Sinner, Virgil Beavers' Jr. Statesman, D.A. Engel's Mambo Plenty, Maurice Huff's Gem D.H.W.A. Morris' Lawrence W., Robert M. Snell's Larry Leroy, and Don Von Hemel's and D.R. Coberly's Solid Pepper.

Knights Blister Dallas

Dallas (AP) — Omaha's sizzling Knights poured in four first-period goals and went on to stun the Central Hockey League regular season champs Dallas Black Hawks 7-2 here Tuesday night in the opener of a best-of-seven series for the Adams Cup.

Seven Knights figured in the goal output Don Gordon, playing in his third championship series in four years with the defending champion Black Hawks, scored both Dallas goals in the second period.

Omaha, sharp from a semi-finals series win over Fort Worth that went four games, peppered Dallas goalie Michel Dumas with 37 shots as the Knight defense bottled up the Hawks throughout the game and allowed but 31 shots on goalie Ray Reeson.

Defensesman Murray Flegel opened the Knight scoring with a quick first period goal at 3:28. Doug Horbal made it 2-0 five minutes later, then Jack Wells extended the lead to 3-0 at 9:55. Jean Lemieux built it up to 4-0 at 17:17.

After Gordon's first goal at 11:16 the Knights went back at it notching their fifth goal on a power play shot by Allie Sutherland at 15:18. Two minutes later Gordon got his second also on a power play.

In the final period defenseman Al Beaulieu burned Dumas for the sixth Omaha goal then at 18:34 Gary Coalter added an insurance goal.

The two clubs resume their title series here Friday night, then move on to Omaha for Saturday and Sunday night matches.

Lakers Seek 2-0 Advantage

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — The Los Angeles Lakers, who are winning the close ones, seek to make it 2-0 in their NBA semifinal playoff series against the Golden State Warriors Thursday night.

The defending champions and the Warriors will move to

NU Trio Relay Team Qualifiers

Three Nebraska Cornhuskers and the 440-relay team have already qualified for the NCAA outdoor track championships, despite the Huskers' opening quadrangular loss last week at Oregon.

Sprinter Karl Webb flashed an opening 10.5 in the 100 and followed with a fine 21.0 in the 220 to earn an NCAA berth.

Bob Unger's 13.498 in the three-mile also met NCAA qualifying standard while Ralph Fisher's 14.0 in the high hurdles also merits an NCAA entry stub.

The Cornhusker quarter-mile relay team turned in a 4:08 at Oregon to win a ticket. Members of the quartet were Leighton Priestley, Doug Gregory, Jim Novak and Webb.

Lynn Hall established a Nebraska record in the 3,000-meter steeplechase with a 9:21.8 and Steve Cook's 102-11 hammer throw is tops on the NU chart.

Wayne Ritchie, freshman from Medford, Ore., made his collegiate debut in the javelin with a fine performance in his home state. Ritchie uncorked a heave of 219.5, third best on the all-time NU chart.

Coach Frank Sevigne's Cornhuskers will compete Friday and Saturday in the Kansas Relays at Lawrence.

LSE Pitchers No Hit Pius X

Steve McManaman and Jim Thompson combined for a no-hitter Wednesday afternoon at Sherman Field as Lincoln Southeast edged Lincoln Pius X, 2-1.

McManaman was replaced by Thompson with one out in the seventh inning when he walked four Thunderbolts to allow the lone Pius X run.

Randolph Team Wins Tourney

York — Randolph No. 1 repeated as the five-man event champions as the 23rd annual state VFW bowling tournament concluded here Sunday.

Randolph, which won the team title at Columbus last year, rolled a 2,945.

David Nuno, Omaha, captured the singles crown with a 671 total, while Lincoln's Andres Aguilar finished second just seven pins back.

Jerry Miller of Kearney saw his 1,747 scratch all-events total, which he bowled on the first of the three weekends of play, withstand all challengers.

Miller and his partner, Les Schug, also of Kearney, also claimed the doubles title after rolling a 1,285 the first weekend.

A Wahoo duo of Howard Roberts and Leonard Zimmerman were the runners up with a 1,264.

Oakland for the third and fourth games of the best-of-seven series Western Conference finals Saturday and Monday nights.

Jerry West, the Lakers' "Mr. Clutch," hit a 15-foot jumper with eight seconds left Tuesday night as Los Angeles came back to edge the Warriors 101-99.

The Lakers had to do the same thing to get to the semifinals, beating the Chicago Bulls 95-92 in the finale of their opening round playoff series Sunday night.

"We were physically and emotionally tired Tuesday night," said Laker coach Bill Sharman. "To be that tired and to come back to win should give us a great emotional lift."

"It would have been nice to have a few more days off in between the Chicago and Golden State series," said third-year forward Jim McMillian, who scored 37 points in the opener against the Warriors.

"We were tired mentally and there's always a lot of pressure in the first game of a new series," McMillian said.

"We cannot win turning the ball over," Golden State coach Al Attles lamented. His club made two critical turnovers in the final 30 seconds Tuesday night.

The Lakers, who went into the series as 9-5 favorites, and the Warriors, return here—if necessary—for the fifth game next Wednesday night.

Creighton, KSU Split Twin Bill

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — Creighton and Kansas State split a nonconference baseball doubleheader Wednesday with the Wildcats nipping Creighton 2-1 in the opener then dropping the finale 10-4.

In the first game Dave Klenda, 3-3, scattered five hits to outduel Ernie Ronquist, 4-1, of Creighton. Freshman Andy Replogle's pinch-hit single drove in Long Kruger in the seventh for KSU's winning run.

In the nightcap, Creighton came up with six runs in the second inning, including a grand slam homer by Steve Napal, to ice the contest. Dave Specht belted a home run with the bases loaded for Kansas State in the sixth.

Stearns Earns Big Eight Honor

Kansas City (AP) — John Stearns of Colorado, who in two games last weekend drove in seven runs against Oklahoma, has been selected baseball player of the week in the Big Eight Conference.

Oklahoma won the opening game of the three-game series at Boulder. In the second game, Stearns homered in the first inning, then put the Buffalo ahead in the fifth with a three-run, two-out double Colorado won, 8-5.

In the series finale, he smacked a three-run homer over the 400-foot sign in left center to tie the game in the seventh. The Buffs won the game, knocking the Sooners out of first 7-2.

Smith Out Of Meet, Inks Pact

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Bob Timmons, University of Kansas track coach and meet director of the KU Relays, has come out second best to the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League for the services of John Smith, world record-holder in the 440-yard dash.

Timmons received a commitment Monday night from the former UCLA track star to join the 440 invitational field Saturday. However, on Tuesday the Cowboys signed the 6-foot-1, 185-pounder to a multi-year contract, saying Smith, whose 44.5 seconds in 1971 is the world mark for the 440, would be tried at wide receiver.

Timmons, meanwhile, has announced another headliner for Saturday's invitational pole vault: Hans Lagerqvist of Sweden, who gets better with age and last April recorded a career best of 17 feet, 7 inches, will have a rematch with countryman Kjell Isaksson.

Lagerqvist was second at the KU Relays last year with a 17-5 to Isaksson, who vaulted 18-4 1/4.

OWN A NEW COAST-TO-COAST STORE TOTAL HARDWARE

As an independent Coast to Coast store owner you would receive continued guidance from one of the oldest franchise companies in America. You would sell name brand sporting goods, hardware, housewares and automotive supplies at competitive prices. And you would be supported by a year round advertising program. With your own store you would have security for the future and would be a welcome member of the community. Several new stores and some stores now operating in excellent locations are immediately available with as low as $25,000 minimum investment. We will help you arrange additional financing. There is no franchise fee to pay. Find out more about the excellent profit potential of these stores. Take a moment right now to drop us a line or give us a call.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it: AXYDLBAAXR is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
